TWO FAILURES IN WALL STREET

Talbot J. Taylor & Co. and W. L. Stow & Co. Have Assigned.

CAUGHT IN THE SLUMP

Ineffectual Appeal Made to J. P. Morgan and Other Financiers for Assistance.

JAMES R. KEENE IS INVOLVED.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, July 24.

Incessant and heavy liquidation in the security market, which has worked ruin to stock and bondholders throughout the country, finally carried under two important stock exchange firms today. In the midst of tremendous excitement on the floor of the exchange the failures were announced of W. L. Stow & Co. of No. 44 Exchange place and T. J. Taylor & Co. of No. 30 Broad street, the latter probably the most important commission firm in Wall street. In this latter firm James R. Keene, long one of the central figures in Wall street and known as one of the greatest stock market manipulators of the day, had his office. Mr. Keene is the father-in-law of Talbot J. Taylor, the head of the firm, and in addition is the father of Foxhall Keene, a special partner in the same concern.

Extent of Keene's Losses.

James R. Keene tonight in his apartments in the Waldorf-Astoria talked of the failure of his son-in-law's firm.

"My own fortune and the fortune of my family is not imperiled," said Mr. Keene. "I lost money today, for I was the largest unsecured creditor of the firm of Talbot J. Taylor, but, as I said, my fortune is safe."

"How about the report that you very recently settled $5,000,000 on your wife, $5,000,000 on your son and $5,000,000 on your daughter," Mr. Keene was asked.

"I won't say anything about the amounts," replied Mr. Keene.

"I guess I'll lose about $1,500,000 through this failure," he continued. "I had no connection with the firm except that I did business there.

"I would have seen him through the thing, but the market was so gloomy and discouraging with not a bright outlook anywhere that I began to think about myself and decided it would be best not to put up any more money for the firm."

The collapse of the Stow firm was precipitated by the decline in the shares of the Mexican Central railroad, of which W. L. Stow is a director. Today local banks refused to loan on the stock of the railroad, and this was the immediate cause of his inability to pay for stock purchased on Thursday.

In the case of T. J. Taylor & Co., the collapse of Southern Pacific, United States Steel and various other stocks in which the firm was interested, left it insolvent. Thursday night the condition of the firm was made known to several bankers, among whom were J. P. Morgan & Co., and it was expected that assistance would be extended to the brokerage firm which had acted so closely for the Morgan interests, first in the distribution of Steel corporation shares and then in the purchase of Northern Pacific stock, but to the appeals of the distressed brokers a deaf ear was apparently turned.

Official Statement Made.

It is not believed that the Taylor failure will be as large as is generally believed, inasmuch as the firm has been steadily selling stocks for weeks past. Late this evening the following official statement was issued at the office:

"Talbot J. Taylor & Co. have this day executed a general assignment for the benefit of creditors to Philip J. Britt and he has accepted the assignment and has taken charge of the property of the firm.

"The assignment of the firm is due to inability to liquidate the stocks which the banks held for their account. All banks having loans with them are well protected, but the inability to liquidate the stocks so held caused the suspension, which, it is hoped, will be temporary, if the banks take the reasonable view that by waiting a gradual liquidation can be effected without disturbance to the stock market. The largest unsecured creditor of the firm is James R. Keene."

During the morning liquidation it was patent to everyone who saw the prices being made on the stock exchange that failure and business disaster must develop. The market was weak. Stocks were bundled out without regard to prices or intrinsic value. Prices dropped headlong in the most demoralizing manner that has been witnessed since the present liquidation became urgent.

Drop in Mexican Central.

Had it not been the case that the market has lately become accustomed to violent declines the heavy slumps in prices today would have amounted to a panic. Finally there came a perpendicular drop in Mexican Central, from 17 to 11. At the latter price some sales were executed and there was a slight rally.

Soon the chairman of the exchange rose and hammered for attention and the first failure to be announced in the new building was published by him. It was that of W. L. Stow & Co. A great cheer rent the air which could be heard across the street—a cheer from the victorious bears. The market wavered in its nervousness. Prices continued their downward career and new low records were extinguished in a score or more of prominent industrial stocks.

Once more the chairman arose in his gallery and commanded the attention of the excited brokers. This time the announcement was made of the failure of the great commission firm of T. J. Taylor & Co. in whose office James R. Keene had since 1901 directed the manipulation of the greatest of all bull markets. Then another cheer was raised. It was louder and more powerful than that which greeted the news of the failure of Stow & Co.

KING SLUMMING IN OLD DUBLIN

IS CHEERED CONTINUOUSLY

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1903, by New York Herald Co.)

Dublin, July 24.—King Edward today paid the Dublin slums a visit which will long be remembered. Refusing to be bound by the official program, he went from one tenement to another, talking to the humble dwellers, and manifesting a real interest in their welfare.

A noteworthy incident occurred as the king was leaving St. Patrick's cathedral on his way to the slums. An old woman struggled through the dense crowd, and reaching forth her right hand, endeavored to get close to the king, her intention evidently being to shake hands. Several officials were about to push her away when his majesty interposed, saying: "Leave her alone; God bless her."

With a fervent "God bless your majesty," the old woman then saluted the king, who shook her hand warmly.

In the course of his round the king called on a man who has been out of work eight months and gave him a £5 note. After visiting one tenement house, the king walked quickly from the street into another poorer one and up a narrow alley leading to a court, where he spent several minutes. When he reappeared the crowd of poor people in the street rushed forward and cheered again and again.

When the king stepped into the room occupied by Joseph Healy, he found Healy busily engaged at his occupation of bootmaking. Healy, subsequently giving an account of the visit, said:

"I was partly going on with a pair of boots when the king came in, but of course he did not mind a workingman at his work. I said I was very much obliged to his majesty for visiting a poor man's room. The king replied pleasantly that he was very glad, indeed, to come."

Mrs. Healy's estimate of the sovereign was simple, but expressive: "He is a very nice gentleman," she said.

His majesty in the course of his examination of the room, paused before a memorial picture in green and black of the late Queen Victoria. Subsequently, when he observed a colored picture of the commander-in-chief of the British army, he said: "There is my old friend, Roberts."

Along Werbergh street, the narrow pavement just permitted his majesty and Sir Charles Camdron to walk. In their wake came Mr. Wyndham and Lord Dudley. Otherwise his majesty was practically unprotected. The poor folks of the neighborhood crowded along the path, cheering continuously.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—(Special.)—Completing touches were given today at Widewater, Va., to the sliding car for the launching of the flying machine on Prof. Langley's boat anchored off Widewater. Mr. Manley, the expert in charge, said: "If you want anything about these experiments find it out the best way you can. We will not tell you a thing."

SECOND BRIGADE CAMP IN ORDER

Guardsmen Ready to Begin Routine Duties of Their Annual Outing.

EIGHTEENTH SENDS MESSAGE

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Camp McKinley, Somerset, Pa., July 24.—"I have never seen a brigade camp in as good shape as this one on the evening before it is opened," was the remark of one of the second brigade's oldest staff officers this evening when the setting sun had ended a busy day.

At 9 o'clock tomorrow morning a salute of 21 guns by Battery B will signify the beginning of Camp William McKinley's official existence. At the last gun the flag will rise in front of brigade headquarters, the Eighteenth regiment band will play the "Star Spangled Banner," officers and men will salute, and the camp will have been opened.

Almost 4,000 men are camped tonight on the fields west of Somerset. From nearly every camp comes the music of bands practicing and the town is filled as rarely before by large crowds. Guardsmen returning to camp are singing, "In the Good Old Summerset," and expectancy of the most interesting week of the town since the brigade encamped here two years ago is everywhere evident.

The Fourteenth and Eighteenth regiments and Battery B from Pittsburgh reached their quarters here on time and found all company tents up except those of the Eighteenth. It is a long standing custom of that regiment for the men to erect their own tents.

Only One Mishap.

The Sixteenth and Fifth regiments came in early over the Baltimore & Ohio branch from Johnstown and the Sheridan troop followed. One man was hurt in the journey of the Tenth. Sergeant Hart of Company H, the Washington company, fell from the moving troop train to a street below the railroad tracks. The train went on without his fall being discovered for some time. He turned up at camp on the next train. One shoulder had been dislocated, his face was cut and a hip was bruised. But he reported for duty and although somewhat dilapidated is still in the service.

The Eighteenth was put through a severe drill after parade this afternoon. Led by Lieutenant Colonel Kay, they marched repeatedly in double time up the steep grade in front of the Highland Inn. In the Fourteenth considerable objection is being made to the camp ground. It is asserted that the hill on which the company streets lie is so steep that the coffee cups in the mess tents upset when placed on the tables.

There were regimental parades in the afternoon. The showing was judged excellent for the first of the camp. The Fifth regiment has secured a fine range for rifle practice. Captain Thompson, inspector of rifle practice in that regiment, after visiting several sites, finally decided on one a mile west of the camp.

Tenth Has a New Band.

The Tenth is rapidly developing its new band from Latrobe. Captain Beeson of Company C, Uniontown, is acting bandmaster, and spent most of yesterday drilling the musicians. Both the Eighteenth and Fourteenth are without chaplains. Chaplain Burnett of the Fourteenth is on leave of absence which he is spending at Winona Lake. The resignation of Chaplain Jesse Martin of the Eighteenth leaves that command in a similar situation.

The detail from the state arsenal has completed the erection of division headquarters on an eminence overlooking the rest of the camp. Major General Miller is expected to arrive on Sunday with Governor Pennypacker. The big day, governor's day, will be Thursday.

The Eighteenth regiment assembled at 9:30 tonight and adopted resolutions on the absence of Colonel Rutledge and the following telegram was sent to their absent commander, through Lieutenant Colonel Kay:

"Officers and men of your regiment instruct me to send love and best wishes. We hope you may be able to join us before we return."

FIFTEEN HUNDRED KILLED THROUGH REBEL'S TREACHERY

Venezuelan Insurgent Betrayed His Superior Officers and Turned Guns on His Comrades, Capturing Ciudad Bolivar.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PORT OF SPAIN, TRINIDAD, July 24.—The French warship Jouffroy arrived here with a report of the capture of Ciudad Bolivar. According to her officers, the Venezuelan city was captured through the treachery of the second rebel officer in command of the fort. He shot the commanding officer, turned the guns on the rebels and surrendered to the government forces.

Gen. Rolando in trying to recapture the fort lost 500 men. The river front of Ciudad Bolivar was demolished.

It is estimated that 1,500 men were killed during the fighting. Eight hundred dead were lying in the streets when the Jouffroy left.

CARACAS, VENEZUELA, July 24.—Order has been established at Ciudad Bolivar. The following is a copy of the official telegram sent by Gen. Gomez, commander-in-chief of the Venezuelan forces which captured Ciudad Bolivar, to President Castro, reporting the recent events:

"On Sunday, July 19, the enemy opened fire on our lines. After 50 hours' deadly struggle we reoccupied the city. The result of our victory is as follows:

"Inspecting the battlefield we found more than 1,500 men killed or wounded on both sides. Our side has to lament the death of Gen. Henrique Urdaneta. On the side of the enemy Gen. Aurelio Valbuena was killed and many officers were captured. All the latter have been set at liberty.

"The traitor Ferreras and other companions escaped and are in hiding in the city."

FISHERMAN'S RING WAS STOLEN FROM POPE LEO'S CORPSE

Effort Being Made to Prevent Scandal from Leaking Out at the Vatican—Thousands Again View Remains.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1903, by New York Herald Co.)

Rome, July 24.—Every effort is being made in the vatican to prevent news of a scandal leaking out. The ring of the fisherman, which should have been found on the hand of the pope, has disappeared. It is not so much a question of its intrinsic as its sentimental value, for the ring of the fisherman is used to seal papal bulls, and is the outward sign of authority of the pope. When the cardinal camerlingo certifies to the death of the pope he receives the ring of the fisherman from the chamberlain of his holiness. It is then destroyed in the presence of all the cardinals at the first congregation of the sacred college held after the pope's death. But when Cardinal Oreglia, the present camerlingo, had certified to the death of Leo XIII., Mgr. Bisletti, a prey to the deepest despair, had to admit that the ring had disappeared. Cardinal Oreglia, who had, as is customary, brought the declaration of having received the ring from the papal chamberlain, all written out, had to put it back into his pocket.

Mgr. Bisletti can give no indication as to the robber. The theft must have taken place between the death of the pope and the morning of the following day, when Cardina. Oreglia officially certified to the fact. During this time a large number of persons entered the death chamber.

In order to prevent the scandal from becoming known outside the vatican, Osservatore Romano, the official organ of the vatican, published a statement that Cardinal Oreglia had duly received the ring of the fisherman in the presence of the cardinals and had destroyed it at the first meeting of the sacred college. But as Cardinal Oreglia never received the ring, it is, of course, out of the question that the cardinals could have witnessed its destruction. The disappearance of the ring has caused a tremendous sensation at the vatican, where it is the sole subject of conversation.

In the meantime in the death certificate of Leo XIII. all allusion to receiving of the ring has been suppressed. Friends of Mgr. Bisletti hope that when the seals are removed from the cabinets of the late pope the ring will be found in one of them, but very little confidence is felt, as the ring should never have left the pope's hand and everyone denies having touched it.

Again today the body of Leo XIII. lay in state in the basilica of St. Peter's and about 35,000 persons passed before the catafalque during the day. This is probably a slight increase over the number who viewed the remains yesterday, and the augmentation was doubtless due to the widely circulated reports that today would be the last upon which the public would have opportunity of looking upon the body of the pontiff. These reports proved to be baseless and the body will continue in the chapel of the sacrament, at least during the greater part of tomorrow. The fears expressed by the vatican authorities concerning decomposition appear to have been exaggerated.

With impressive ceremonies the body will be interred tomorrow evening in a sarcophagus at St. Peter's, where it will remain until taken to its final resting place in the church of St. John Lateran. Italian soldiers again today preserved order inside St. Peter's.

The day was notable for the solemn masses celebrated for the repose of the soul of the late pontiff at St. Peter's and other famous churches in Rome, which were largely attended despite the pathetic ceremony which was occurring at the basilica.

The congregation of cardinals today decided to ask Monsignor Galli to deliver the funeral oration upon the late pope, and Monsignor Sardi the oration on the duties of the college in connection with selection of Leo's successor. These appointments, however, are of a tentative nature, and have not yet been officially communicated to the appointees.

In addition to the bequests already mentioned, the will of Pope Leo made provision for the distribution of about $20,000 among the poor of Rome, Perugia, where he for many years was archbishop, and Carpiento, where he was born.

AVENGED AN INSULT.

Miss Katie Welch, a Girl Telegrapher from Pittsburgh, Thrashes Operator in Denver Office.

DENVER, COL., July 24.—(Special.)—"Bradfield; yes, that's the name, William Bradfield. Where does he sit?"

The inquiry was made in the operating room of the main office of the Western Union Telegraph Company here, where the young man asked for works as a day operator. The inquirer was Miss Katie Welch, the prepossessing, stockily built and muscular young woman who manages the branch office at the Brown hotel.

Proceeding to the desk where Bradfield was industriously sending a message, Miss Welch struck the young man under the ear with her fist. As he attempted to rise she landed on his jaw, and struck him again and again, until the chief operator came to Bradfield's rescue. Miss Welch, who came from Pittsburgh, where she says she was a press operator, explained that Bradfield had insulted her over the wire.

MILLER TELLS OF EXPULSION

STRIKE MAY RESULT

Bookbinders Hold Secret Meeting to Take Action on His Reinstatement by President.

CRISIS IS DUE THIS MORNING

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Room 16, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., July 24.

W. A. Miller, the assistant foreman of the bindery of the government printing office, returned from his home in Minneapolis today to be reinstated in his position. This is his side of the controversy:

"The postoffice department in 1901 sent in a request for a less expensive 'route book,' and 'letters returned by carriers.' I had samples made and they were submitted and the department saved on orders at hand $2,500. The bookbinders' union, through a committee, objected.

"The arbitration committee of the union restricts the amount of work done in a day. They are the real heads of the bindery, going to men and countermanding orders given by the foreman. Thus when I arranged for the postoffice work Mr. Barrett told me they objected to my cheapening the work. They also objected to improvements.

"They then began to lay for me to get me out. I was charged with ordering more work done on certain binding. They went through the burlesque of a trial, and after holding court suspended me from the union. This would have had no effect if Mr. Palmer, the public printer, had had a little firmness. He yielded on account of his age and asked me to lay off 15 days to satisfy this sentence.

Threatened With Suspension.

"Then threats were made that I would be permanently suspended and in April I got notice to attend a meeting of the executive committee. As no reasons were assigned I declined to attend. I was fined $10 and a few days later received notice charging me with having furnished Representative Heatwole with a copy of the testimony on which I had been suspended.

"The whole aim of these men has been to dictate to the heads, to enslave the foremen by making them join their organization, and then, if they can't control the foremen, to hound them out of their positions."

The local branch of the International Bookbinders' union held a largely attended meeting at Odd Fellows hall tonight to consider what action should be taken in the event that W. A. Miller, the assistant foreman of the bindery at the government printing office, returns to duty, as he has expressed the intention of doing tomorrow morning. The meeting discussed the matter for three hours and then adjourned subject to the call of the arbitration committee of the union. There were many speeches and apparently a number of votes, but just what they were about no one who attended the meeting was willing to say.

Possibility of Strike.

It has been stated that the members of the union would walk out of the printing office if Miller, who has been expelled from membership, should return to work tomorrow morning. But President R. M. Garrett tonight was absolutely non-communicative on the subject. He would not give the least intimation of what was done at the meeting, saying he believed that nothing should be said while there was a possibility of the adjustment of the differences which would arise in the event that Miller returns to work tomorrow. It is believed that no strike will occur tomorrow and that the union will not take radical action as yet at any rate.

An impression prevails—and it is only that, for not one of the members of the union would confirm or deny the possibility of the suggestion—that Public Printer Palmer will find some solution of the difficulty. This may be reached, it is said, by a suspension of Miller from duty for a few days until the charges filed against him by the union are investigated. The members of the union could then return to work tomorrow morning without violating their constitution, which inhibits their working with a member who has been expelled.

Andrew Carnegie's Donation to Washington Library Awaits Disposal.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—(Special.)—Commissioner McFarland, president of the Washington public library commission this morning received a communication from R. A. Franks, Andrew Carnegie's representative at Pittsburgh, stating that the $25,000 additional donation to the public library would be remitted in installments or as a whole as requested by the commission.

Mr. McFarland replied that it is probable the commission will forward requisitions for the funds as the amounts for the various items of work to be done become due in sums of not less than $5,000 each. The original gift of $650,000 was drawn in $45,000 lots. The $25,000 additional donation by Mr. Carnegie is to be used for installing an electric dumb waiter, new shelving, repairs to plaster and paint, decorating, painting, furniture and hot air supply.

Danish West Indies Treaty Has Expired.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The treaty providing for the acquisition by the United States of the Danish West India Islands officially died today. If Denmark should conclude to sell the islands to the United States it will be possible to revive the treaty. The American government, of course, could not sanction the sale of the Islands by Denmark to any other government.

RUMOR OF TROUBLE.

Story That One of Morgan's Partners Is in Disfavor Officially Denied.

NEW YORK, July 24.—(Special.)—In Wall street today it was said that trouble in the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. was one of the features having a bad effect on the stock market. According to the story one of the members of the firm mixed in some deals not countenanced by his partners had been forced to dump his holdings upon the market, thus adding to the depression of prices.

Later the story became current that George W. Perkins was to retire from the firm, his place to be taken by J. P. Morgan, Jr., who arrived from Europe yesterday and is spending his vacation in the Catskills. Perkins declined to deny the story, but another member of the firm said:

"That rumor was started a month ago as a stock jobbing story. Its revival today is for the same purpose. It is absolutely untrue in every particular. Mr. Perkins will remain with the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., and young Mr. Morgan will return to his office in London as soon as his vacation is over."

NAVY DISCUSSED AT SAGAMORE HILL

Secretary Moody Confers With President on Building Program.

WANT LARGE BATTLESHIPS

President Will Favor Construction of Tactical Groups of 16,000-Ton Vessels—Recommendations Will Be Made to Congress at Next Session.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

OYSTER BAY, L. I., July 24.—Upon the conference between President Roosevelt and Secretary Moody, who arrived here at 8 o'clock on a naval tug, will depend much in naval legislation by the next congress. Secretary Moody comes to submit to the president his views as to the number and types of warships the congress should be asked to appropriate for.

There is little doubt that the president will favor recommendations either in Secretary Moody's annual report, or by him personally to the congressional naval committees for more battleships, probably a tactical group of four of not less than 16,000 tons displacement. Both the president and Secretary Moody regard battleships as the backbone of the fleet, and they do not intend there shall be any weakness as to the navy increase.

The general board, of which Admiral Dewey is the president and practically all of the chiefs of bureaus in the navy department are united in the belief that scout ships of high speed and moderate displacement should be immediately constructed so that the torpedo boat destroyers now used as scouts—work for which they are ill-fitted in some respects—may be devoted to torpedo work exclusively. So President Roosevelt will doubtless agree with Mr. Moody that scouts should be authorized in generous number. Whether appropriations for armored cbruisers will be recommended remains to be seen.

Secretary Moody will also bring to the president's consideration the project for the establishment of a general staff corps in the navy. Secretary Moody recognizes the many beneficial features of reorganization of the navy department by creating a general staff, but he has never admitted that the necessity was so pressing as to call for immediate action, and for this reason it is possible that the administration will not this year press the general staff plan on the congress.

CLIMBED MT. RANIER.

Apparently Impossible Feat Accomplished by Two Plucky Mountaineers.

TACOMA, WASH., July 24.—(Special.)—A sensational ascent of Mount Ranier has been made by Dr. W. R. Betts of New Orleans and H. M. Sarvant of Tacoma. Betts coming from New Orleans with the object of disproving the general belief that the mountain has been unsurmountable for years, since avalanches broke off the great ledges of rock above Gibraltar, which climbers formerly depended on.

Leaving Paradise valley Sunday evening they camped for the night at Muir, but terrific winds prevented sleeping. Starting at three as they reached Gibraltar Rock only to find glaciers above all but impassable. Using ropes and cutting more than 500 steps in ice they made long detours around crevasses, finally gaining a sure footing. They reached the summit at 11 a. m. and visited all three craters. They found no evidence of recent volcanic activity, though sulphur fumes and steam are still rising.

LEE SENDS LETTERS.

St. Louis Fugitive Expects to Discredit Evidence of Former Lieutenant Governor.

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, ONT., July 24.—(Special.)—Daniel J. Kelly, indicted agent for the baking powder corporation, announced today that he had decided to send the Lee letters to Jefferson City in the care of Mrs. Kelley, and that she will leave for St. Louis Saturday.

Mrs. Kelley, according to her husband's plans, will identify the letters written to her husband by Lee. The object of her testimony will be to break down that offered by Lee against Senator Farris, who goes to trial on a baking powder charge next Tuesday. Kelley says he goes to give the letters to convince the jury that Lee conspired to blackmail Farris, Matthews, Smith and other senators, and will thus render his testimony worthless and insure the acquittal of the senators.

WILL TO BE CONTESTED.

Gen. Cassius M. Clay Leaves $10,000 to Former Child-Wife, Dora Brock.

RICHMOND, KY., July 24.—(Special.)—It is regarded as certain that the will of Gen. Cassius M. Clay will be contested because of the bequest of $10,000 left in trust to Dora Brock, his divorced wife, though his children refuse to make any expression on the subject.

The funeral of Gen. Clay will take place tomorrow and owing to the provisions of the will the body will be buried near his mother. The expense of the funeral is limited to $100 and a plain headstone is to mark the grave. The will will be offered for probate in the county court.

Young was a veteran of the Spanish-American war, having served with Company H, Tenth regiment, in the Philippines.

TWO FAILURES IN WALL STREET

excitement as can only be worked up in a money flurry was witnessed. Old brokers and young brokers elbowed for priority at the selling posts, while sells and counter sells filled the air.

When the news of the failures was received the market immediately showed signs of improvement, but hesitated on reports that another failure was to be announced immediately. There were, however, no further announcements, and the street immediately assumed that the worst was over. The traders thereupon began to bid up prices, and the market closed with a remarkable show of strength.

The incessant liquidation in the security market, with the firms carrying a large line of collateral, compelled renewal of credits and margins from time to time. When these demands were made by the banks the first effort of the borrowers of money was to realize on the good stocks. Thereupon began the heavy selling in St. Paul, United States Steel, New York Central and Pennsylvania and Southern Pacific. In these stocks enormous losses were sustained in the effort to comply with the demands of the bankers and lenders for more margin. At the same time these high-class stocks were sold to protect the more unsalable securities. Finally it reached a stage where the collateral in the loans became of such a character that the banks refused to loan. It was at that stage that the Taylor firm decided to acknowledge defeat.

Gates Not Disturbed.

John W. Gates did not seem at all disturbed after the closing of the market. He said:

"I am sorry to hear of the failure of these two firms. Evidently they had become loaded with unsalable securities. I still think good stocks are good; that is to say, crops are good and the country is very prosperous, and I see no reason for worry, despite occurrences on the stock market such as happened today."

F. L. Hine, vice president of the First National bank, said: "These failures are nothing to be alarmed about. I apprehend no danger for banks or trust companies."

The operations of the firm of W. L. Stow & Co. were on a large scale in Mexican Central, and the difficulties which have accumulated upon them are understood by the price of 11 touched by Mexican Central under the forced selling today and the high level at 31¼ last year.

The failure of Talbot J. Taylor & Co. will inevitably be connected with the great market operations of James R. Keene by reason of his family connection with and frequent employment of the firm. Mr. Keene's operations in stocks are too numerous to detail, and much mystery usually attaches to them necessarily from their nature. But the market management of the United States Steel stocks on behalf of the syndicate and the conduct of a Southern Pacific pool are the operations with which his name are most notably connected.

Their Great Burden.

The accumulation, according to common belief, of 250,000 shares of Southern Pacific and the lifting of its price above 80 were based upon the assumption that Southern Pacific bonds were to be issued for that road's work of improvement and the net earnings applied to dividends. Talbot J. Taylor & Co., as representatives of the pool, felt themselves powerful enough to challenge the Union Pacific party's refusal to adopt this policy and to carry the quarrel to the courts. The animosities and resentments engendered by that quarrel are supposed to have added to the weight of the firm's difficulties and to have aided in bringing it down.

A great deal of interest was manifested in Wall street as to what extent, if at all, James R. Keene was involved in it. The general belief in the street was that Mr. Keene had no connection, but that he refused to come to the relief of his son-in-law. There was no confirmation of this notion, but it is based on the following story:

Last summer Talbot J. Taylor was reported to have had a falling out with his father-in-law arising out of reported purchases of Southern Pacific by Mr. Taylor on his own account independently of the pool which Mr. Keene was running in that stock. According to the story, Mr. Keene was angry when he discovered the fact. With the break in the stock market last October, Southern Pacific declined severely, and it was asserted in some quarters that Mr. Taylor was among the losers.

Mr. Keene is believed to be a man of great wealth and Wall street held to the opinion today that if he had suffered any losses in the decline, he was well able to stand them.

Almost 76,000 shares of Mexican Central were dealt in today, the stock selling down violently from 19 to 11, and closing at 12¼, a net loss of 6½ points. The first income bonds declined more than 5 points. During last year's bull movement Mexican Central stock sold as high as 31⅛.

Assignee a Politician.

The efforts to ascertain the amount of the firm's indebtedness to Mr. Keene were unsuccessful. The assignee is a prominent Tammany politician, and is well known as a close friend of Mr. Keene.

Today's failures in the exchange were the first since May 5 of last year. That day three firms, all of them involved in the Webb-Meyer syndicate, went under. Two resumed business.

A New York stock exchange seat sold today at $60,000, a decline of $7,500 from the last sale. No particulars were given as to the reason for the heavy break in values. The highest price which a membership ever sold for was $82,000 last year.

No statemet of Taylor & Co.'s assets and liabilities has been made, but from the president of a leading national bank it is learned that the liabilities may be well on to $6,000,000. Estimates of Stow & Co.'s liabilities range from $1,250,000 to $2,500,000.

When asked for an expression of opinion concerning the stock market James R. Keene said:

"What's the use of discussing a situation when ruling prices are absolutely out of touch with real values. The wonder is that such a condition can prevail in Wall street. The market is demoralized; there seems to be a craze to sell everything; people are as eager to sell as they were to buy a year ago, when stocks were 50 per cent higher. Stocks are very cheap, but there is such a deluge of them, put to recent liquidation, and such timidity on the part of buyers, that except in a few stocks there is no market. And this while business is excellent throughout the country, railroad earnings large and crops promising. Wall street is the only black spot."

Statement by Speer & Co.

J. L. D. Speer of J. L. D. Speer & Co., brokers, Farmers Bank building, said yesterday afternoon of the failure of Talbot J. Taylor & Co.:

The failure of Talbot J. Taylor & Co. was announced late this afternoon on the New York stock exchange. In the announcement no figures were given, either as to the assets or the liabilities of the firm. We called Talbot J. Taylor & Co. on the long distance telephone and their bookkeeper said they would make a statement shortly and were now working upon it.

The firm was composed of Talbot J. Taylor, James B. Taylor and Foxhall Keene, special. James R. Keene had offices with the firm and handled considerable of his business through it, but was in no way connected with the partnership. Talbot J. Taylor is a son-in-law of James R. Keene and Foxhall Keene is his son. At the present time we are unable to make a statement of how healthy the firm is involved.

J. L. D. Speer & Co. formerly had a direct wire to Talbot J. Taylor & Co., but their special wire with them was discontinued December 31, 1902, and although the firms have retained the most pleasant relationship since then, they have not done much business with each other since the above date, as J. L. D. Speer & Co. have been doing their business through two other large wire houses in New York.

POPE LEO EXPRESSED HIS DOUBTS IN VERSE

Recent Poem, Translated by Henry Thurston Peck, Foreshadows His Death.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 24.—The New York Independent today printed the following recent poem by Pope Leo, translated from the Latin by Prof. Henry Thurston Peck:

At nightfall: The meditation of a troubled spirit.

Leo, the destined hour! Now must thou hence,
And, as thy merits, take the endless way.

What yet awaits thee? Heavenly joy, thy gifts,
Which God had freely given, bade thee hope—

But thy great keys! A trust of mighty weight,
And borne so long—thou groanest at the thought.

For he who leads in honor all the rest,
Must, if he fail, the keener suffering bear.

Amid thy fears, there comes a gentle face,
A gentler voice speaks comfort to the heart.

Why does fear shake thee? Why, on gazing back,
Over thy long past should sadness stir thy soul?

The pitying Christ is here. He gives His grace.
To those that seek. Have faith—He beareth all."

TELEPHONE LINEMEN QUIT.

Pittsburgh and Allegheny Company Employes Demanded Higher Wages.

The trouble among the telegraph and telephone linemen, which engaged the attention of labor circles a year ago last spring, has broken out afresh, this time in the office of the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company. A number of linemen employed by the company demanded an advance in wages yesterday and quit work. The linemen say they struck, but the company officials declare they were discharged.

It was said yesterday by one of the men that 50 men had gone out on strike, but an officer of the company stated last night that less than a dozen had quit. He said the men were getting $2 75 a day, which on the average is as high as any other local company is paying, but they demanded $3.

He did not expect that the trouble would spread, and said it had been caused by a few men who drifted about from place to place over the country, arousing dissension and dissatisfaction wherever they went.

FOUND AFTER 16 YEARS.

Mrs. Karparo, Deserted in Russia, Locates Her Husband in Good Circumstances Here.

Deserted 16 years ago in far-off Russia, Mrs. Etta Karparo has found her husband in Pittsburgh. He is L. Karparo of No. 715 Fifth avenue, a prosperous liquor dealer. The wife demanded that they renew relations, which he refused. She had him arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of non-support and surety of the peace.

The Karparos lived happily in Russia for a number of years, and suddenly the husband disappeared. This was in 1887. Mrs. Karparo waited, but he did not return. A short time ago she came to this country and visited relatives in Chicago. There she learned that her husband was in this city and in good circumstances.

Mrs. Karparo came here and took up her residence at No. 1331 Fifth avenue. She had an interview with her husband at which she endeavored to obtain an understanding with him. The interview was of such a nature as to cause Mrs. Karparo to retain Attorney James Francis Burke. Suit was entered before Alderman John F. Grotzinger. Karparo furnished $1,000 bail for a hearing.

Thomas Costello, an employe, was sentenced to pay a fine of $25, and in the case against George A. Dodge, manager of the company, the justice reserved his decision. Costello immediately appealed his sentence.

The church faction has determined to renew its fight and a mass meeting of the citizens will be held in the Homestead Methodist Episcopal church on Sunday afternoon to plan a further campaign.

HUSBAND SHOT DEAD IN DEFENSE OF WIFE

Bartender at Point Pleasant, W. Va., Kills Negro Whom Officers Were Watching.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

POINT PLEASANT, W. VA., July 24.—About 1 o'clock this morning Thomas Dorsey, colored, a well-known steamboat cook, was shot and instantly killed by George McDaniel, a white bartender. Dorsey was having considerable trouble with his family of late, and the town officers, it is said, have been watching for his return from a river trip on account of threats, it is alleged, he had made upon his wife's life.

McDaniel and Dorsey both lived a few doors apart, and as McDaniel was nearing home he met Mrs. Dorsey, who said that her husband had driven her from home with deadly threats. McDaniel told her to go back home, as he did not believe her husband would dare hurt her. Just at this moment Dorsey jumped from McDaniel's yard with a fence picket in each hand and began a vigorous assault upon him.

McDaniel backed a short distance, when he pulled a revolver and fired, the shot going directly through Dorsey's heart, who fell to the ground and instantly expired. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

The supreme court also modified the order of survey granted to Heinz in the Nipper case and denied a motion filed by Heinz's attorney to draw the certified check for $125,000 filed as a bond in the Minnie Healy case from the Daily Bank and Trust Company.

CUBA WOULD RESENT INTERFERENCE WITH LOAN

HAVANA, July 24.—In reference to the statement cabled from the United States to the effect that the government at Washington, under the authority of the Platt amendment, would exercise supervision of the Cuban loan, President Palma informed the Associated Press representative that any such supervision would be considered odious by the people of Cuba, and further that he anticipated none will be regarded as necessary. He explains that Cuba has fully met the requirements of the Platt amendment in this regard by providing for an increase in the public revenues in excess of what would be required to meet the interest and sinking fund of the loan and that, in addition, there is already a surplus of more than $3,000,000 in the treasury.

WAS WHIPPED FOR INSULTING GIRL

Trolley Conductor Received Beating from Irate Father for Impertinence.

OFFENSIVE REMARK HEARD

Elwell Was First Kicked by the Street Car Man, but Later Had Best of Engagement and Chased Asherman to Place of Safety.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 24.—N. Asherman, a trolley car conductor who lives at No. 5728 Woodland avenue, received a severe and sound thrashing close upon midnight last night by the angered father of a 15-year-old girl whom the trolley employe insulted by making impertinent remarks to her.

About 10 o'clock, when Ashetman's car was passing the home of Dennis Elwell, who resides at Seventy-ninth street and Buist avenue, he saw Elwell's daughter Bessie apparently sitting alone on the porch. The conductor, as the car passed the house, made a remark to the girl, which the girl's father heard and which he said was offensive. In an instant he was aboard the car and began remonstrating with the conductor. The latter in return kicked the girl's father under the chin, nearly knocking him off the car.

Both were evenly matched and the conductor was unable to put Elwell off. When the car reached the terminus of the line the fight was renewed, and this time Elwell gave Asherman the greatest whipping he ever had in his life. He rained blow after blow upon the conductor's head and finally succeeded in compelling the conductor to flee for safety.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

STRIKERS SENTENCED.

Chicago Judge Imposes Severe Penalties for Violation of an Injunction.

CHICAGO, July 24.—(Special.)—Judge Jesse Holdom of the superior court today sentenced three more strikers to jail for having disobeyed his injunction in the Kellogg strike. Three other defendants were fined for the same offense, and one was discharged. Those sent to jail are: A. Maschek, 60 days; Jacob Christiansen, 30 days; John O'Brien, 10 days. L. S. Fisher was fined $100; John B. Rentz, $25, and Charles Evans, $25.

The sentencing of Maschek, Christiansen and O'Brien was attended by a dramatic clash between Judge Holdom and Attorney Masters.

"I pray an appeal for those of my clients sentenced to jail," Attorney Masters informed the court.

"Denied," was the judge's terse reply.

"You cannot deny an appeal in such a case as this," the young attorney exclaimed.

"I will inform the eminent counsel the court not only can, but has," Judge Holdom answered, with emphasis on the word "eminent."

MUNICIPAL RIGHTS CEDED TO THE CATHOLIC CHURCH

SAN JUAN, PORTO RICO, July 24.—All the municipal rights in the church buildings at Guayama, Arroyo and Salinas, have been ceded by the municipal authorities of those towns to the Catholic church. Spain, under the old regime, claiming title to the edifices, which, however, were maintained out of the municipal funds. The action taken by the municipal authorities of these three towns follows the lines recommended by Gov. Hunt, and it is believed that the same policy will prevail throughout the island, thus settling this disturbing question.

HIGH REQUIEM SUNG FOR POPE

Rare and Solemn Ceremonial at Which Bishop Canevin Pontificated.

AT CHURCH OF THE EPIPHANY

Edifice Was Crowded to the Doors by the Faithful, Eager to Pay the Last Honors — Eloquent Panegyric by Father Vincent Huber, O. S. B.

The solemn pontifical requiem mass for the repose of the soul of Pope Leo XIII. was celebrated yesterday morning in the Church of the Epiphany, the church in Washington street that temporarily serves as St. Paul's cathedral for the Pittsburgh diocese. The solemn ceremony had not been performed since 1878, when Pope Pius IX. died.

It was the first time in the history of the Catholic church that but two papal requiems were said in the long span of 55 years, from the accession of Pius IX. until the death of Leo XIII. They were the only two popes whose reign equaled in length the traditional term of St. Peter's pontificate in Rome. There were periods, even in modern times, when papal requiems followed fast upon one another, for most popes were old when they were elected to the head of the church and their days in that honor were few. In the light of history few Catholics expect to have the good fortune of such rare attendance at a dead mass for a pope.

The beginning of the services yesterday was set for 9 o'clock, but long before that hour the basement of Epiphany church, the church proper not yet being completed, was crowded with the faithful. In the middle of the sanctuary was a black bier and catafalque, surrounded by candles in draped candlesticks. On the left of the sanctuary, a few feet from the bishop's throne, stood a life-size marble bust of the late pope, on a black carved pedestal. The interior of the church was heavily draped in black.

Bishop Canevin Was Celebrant.

Bishop Regis J. F. Canevin was the celebrant of the mass and conducted the preliminary offices of the dead, Bishop Phelan being unable on account of the state of his health to come up from the Orphans' asylum at Idlewood to take part in the ceremonies. Bishop Canevin was assisted by the Very Rev. F. L. Tobin, vicar general, assistant priest; the Rev. Martin Ryan and the Rev. S. J. Schramm, deacons of honor; the Rev. L. A. Connell, deacon; the Rev. B. Piscopo, sub-deacon, and the Rev. Miles Sweeny, master of ceremonies. The choir of the cathedral, 31 in number, led by Prof. Joseph Otten, sang the beautiful requiem mass in E flat major by Caspar Ett.

Besides the bishop and his assistants a score of priests of the diocese sat in the sanctuary. Many others who came late had places among the congregation. The offices of the dead were similar to those performed at every funeral mass. The bishop and his assistants and the priests in the sanctuary went in procession to the bier, where the offices were recited, including the sprinkling of holy water and the chanting of "Requiem aeternam dona ei Domine et lux perpetua luceat ei." (Eternal rest grant unto him, O Lord, and may perpetual light shine upon him.) The numbers of the mass, as sung by celebrant or choir, were as follows:

Chant—Kyrie Eleison.
Prayer—Pidelium.
Epistle—I. Corinth. xv: 51-57.
Chant—Gradual.
Tract—"Absolve, O Lord."
Gospel—Sung by celebrant, from St. John
Offertory—Sung by choir.
Sanctus—"Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God"—chant by choir.
Consecration.
Choir—Benedictus Qui Venit in Nomine Domini! Hosanna in Excelsis.
Chant—Agnus Dei.
Communion—Choir.
Post communion—Celebrant.
Response—"Libera Domine, de morte aeterna," sung by choir.
Absolution—By celebrant.

The panegyrist, Father Vincent Huber, of the order of St. Benedict preached feelingly on the death of the pope.

Address by Father Huber.

We are assembled here to offer prayers for the repose of the soul of our supreme pontiff. The greatest of all prayers is the sacrifice of the mass, which every priest in the diocese has already offered and which is offered this morning in this solemn way. Three distinct feelings pervade our hearts today—the feelings of grief, of pride and of gratitude. We grieve over the loss to the church. She has lost her supreme head, whom all the faithful loved and revered on account of his kindness of heart and the saintliness of his life. In him the church has lost a father, a guide, who always had the temporal and spiritual welfare of his children at heart and has done so much to secure it. Today we give expression to this love by offering prayers for the repose of the soul, and with childlike fervor we say to God: "Eternal rest grant unto him, O Lord!"

Why have we the feeling of pride? When Cardinal Pecci was elected pope many of us inquired, "And who is Cardinal Pecci?" He had been little known outside Rome and its immediate environments, but those brought into touch with him recognized his worth. According to an ancient prophecy he was to be a lumen de coele (light from heaven). A comet was found in his escutcheon; the prophecy was fulfilled. What a disappointment—nothing but an erratic star had pointed out the new pope.

But we soon learned that in a much higher sense the new pontiff deserved the appellation of lumen de coele. No sooner had he ascended St. Peter's throne than the light began to shine throughout the world. With wonderful wisdom did he grasp the conditions of human affairs in church and state. He called attention to the social evils and pointed out their remedies. Ignorance and error are the chief causes of human misery, hence it was his first care to bring back Christian philosophy to its ancient moorings.

His encyclical Aeterni Patris directed attention to the great scholastic theologians and philosophers and appointed the greatest of them all, St. Thomas Aquinas, the patron of Christian schools. He encouraged the study of history by throwing open to the learned of the world the vatican archives, containing priceless documents never before accessible, showing thereby that the church had nothing to fear and nothing to hide. To him we owe the establishment of the Catholic university at Washington, the greatest Catholic school in America.

Leo Was the Social Pope.

Well was he called the social pope, for none has done so much for the amelioration of mankind as Leo XIII. He detected as if by intuition dangerous vagaries of modern times, condemned heresies that threatened to overthrow all authority, such as socialism, anarchism, etc. He inculcated respect for the worldly authority, and none owes him greater thanks than the temporal rulers of the world. Every nation seemed to be the especial object of his care, the Poles, the English-speaking peoples, America, France.

Hence we witnessed in recent times the deep interest manifested in him, not only by those of his own faith, but by all the world. No man's death chamber was ever surrounded by so many as that of Leo XIII. The whole world watched his every breath, and since his death, we may safely say, not an unkind word has been uttered by human lips. Hence we justly feel proud.

We feel grateful to God because He gave us such a father and guide in these troublesome times. We know that the church is God's own kingdom, imperishable, indestructible; that it will exist under supreme pontiffs not like Leo, distinguished for their virtuous lives, but it is a consolation for us to know that he whose memory we revere was a man according to the heart of God—a pious, virtuous, saintly man.

At the conclusion of the sermon the choir sang the response, "Libera me, Domine," Bishop Canevin gave the solemn absolution and the ceremony was finished.

There will be prayers for the pope at St. Martin's church, in Steuben avenue, and at St. Joseph's church, Sharpsburg, tomorrow.

PEACE OUTLOOK GOOD, SO SAY ITS ADVOCATES

Political Harmony Negotiators Hold Another Conference and Part, One Step Nearer the Goal They Are Seeking.

The promoters of harmony sought to be established between the Republican and Citizens parties held another conference yesterday, and last night a more hopeful feeling was expressed than at any time since the desire for peace resulted in an effort to secure it.

The fear expressed by adherents of political organizations that a "deal" was being made irrespective of the wishes of the rank and file of the organization is declared to be without foundation. It is asserted that if peace is cemented, the result will be achieved without any sacrifice of principles by either side, leaving an open field for every Republican belonging to the united organization. Of course, the county committee is not authorized to accept any conclusions that will bind the city committees, but it is asserted by some that peace in county affairs will bring with it as a natural corollary harmony in the cities. No "slate" will be "fixed up;" no "leader" will be selected, for the Republicans who acceded to the Citizens party's desire for consultations that might produce harmony, say they have the good of the Republican party at heart, and that things shown by the experiences of the past few years to be unpopular will not be repeated.

Chairman Thomas J. Ford of the Republican organization, in an interview yesterday said that he thought harmony could be brought about by the Citizens coming into the Republican county primaries, and that when the contest for the city and county committees came up at the spring primaries, it could be settled in the same way. Mr. Ford gave this simply as his own individual view of the matter.

Murry A. Verner, chairman of the Citizens party's county committee, went east last night. He said he was going to New York on private business, would be gone several days and that he did not intend to visit Senator Matthew S. Quay on the sea coast in New Jersey. Yesterday afternoon Mayor Hays laid out a program of work in his office today, so that the report that he was to visit Senator Quay today is considered unfounded.

Councilman Joseph C. Wasson.

Failed to Get Quorum.

No meeting of Allegheny select council was held yesterday because of the lack of a quorum. A special meeting had been called by President Francis J. Torrance to consider business transacted at the last meeting of the common branch.

ALUM WATER LOBBY WORKING TO PREVENT COUNCIL QUORUM

False Reports Being Circulated to Keep Members from Attending the Meeting.

WASSON NAILS FALSEHOODS

The alum water lobby is devoting its energies to prevent a quorum of common council next Monday night and thus suspend action on filtration. An active canvass is being made among members of common council to ascertain how many can be persuaded to remain away from the meeting or to vote for the appointment of a new commission. In addition to this the false report has been widely and persistently circulated that the purpose of the meeting Monday night is not only to take up filtration, but also the Duquesne way railroad ordinance at the instance of the railroad company.

So absurd is this report on its face that the originators of it have endeavored to give it an appearance of plausibility by the statement that the Pennsylvania company has come to the conclusion that select council will not pass the ordinance in its present shape, and wants it taken up again by common council and revised, so that it will be acceptable to the upper branch.

An evening paper, which is recognized as the official organ of the mechanical filtration propoganda, printed this statement in bold headlines yesterday, making also the assertion that the common councilmen resented Councilman J. C. Wasson's activity for pure water because it deprived them of their summer vacations. It was stated that Mr. Wasson had been in Europe on a pleasure trip and had come back refreshed and wanted to put the other members to work. The story quoted no person, but Mr. Wasson said yesterday, when it was shown him:

Wasson Nails a Falsehood.

"That sounds like my friend from the Fourteenth ward. It is not true that I was in Europe on a pleasure trip. It was far from a pleasure trip. I make this trip every year for the firm I represent, and I am busy and work hard all the time I am gone. I worked harder than I do at home, and I venture to say that I work harder here than do the persons who are alleged to be making these criticisms. While I was away I traveled over 3,000 miles on the continent buying goods, and the only rest that I got was in going and returning on the ocean.

"I have taken this matter up because I believe there is great necessity for prompt action. The filtration committee has completed its report, and councils should get this report as speedily as possible and make a move in the direction of pure water. I had the meeting of common council called because I believe that we could get a quorum, and I still believe we will have a quorum next Monday.

"Mayor Hays promised not only that he would aid me in getting signatures to a call for a meeting, but also that he would aid me in getting a quorum. I have no reason to believe that he will not keep his promise."

City Clerk Edwin G. Hassler said yesterday that it was absurd to assert that common council would take up the railroad ordinance. He said the ordinance, having been signed by the president of common council, was now virtually in the hands of select council, and would be reported to that body the first meeting it holds.

Councilman Wasson also nailed the lie yesterday that the real purpose of his call for a meeting was to take up the railroad ordinance.

"I told the members who signed the call that it was only to take up the filtration matter, and the call specifically states the meting is called for this purpose. Under the rules it is possible for any member to call up other business before councils, but I promised when I circulated the call that if any attempt was made to take up any other business I would oppose it."

Mr. Wasson believes that the whole report of the filtration committee should go to the finance committee, to which the question of an additional bond issue for sand filtration is to be referred. The filtration committee also passed a resolution, offered by Gebhart Sahner, which provides for the appointment of a new joint commission of councils to consider some other system, ostensibly mechanical.

Lobby to Bear Expense.

Mr. Wasson contends that the two propositions, the reference of the bond ordinance to the finance committee and the appointment of a new commission, are distinct in character, and should be presented in separate resolutions. He will so insist in council.

It is the intention of the alum water advocates that the new commission shall take a trip around the country to inspect mechanical filters, and this will be at a considerable expense to some one.

"The expense would legitimately have to be borne by the city," said Mr. Wasson, "and if there is any expense attached to the idea, the proposition will have to be submitted in the form of a permanent resolution or an ordinance. The rules provide that a paper of this character cannot be passed at one meeting. It will have to be referred to the finance committee."

It is claimed that the mechanical filtration lobby is willing to bear the cost of the commission, its traveling expenses and incidentals, but Mr. Wasson claims that councils can not accept such a proposition without laying themselves open to serious charges.

The call for the meeting of common council was sent out yesterday. The order for the call was signed by 18 members.

Allegheny for Sand System.

Allegheny city health officials are pronounced in favor of sand filtration. Dr. R. G. Burns, the bacteriologist of the North Side, said yesterday that sand filtration was the ideal method of purifying water, and Superintendent J. A. McLaughlin, of the bureau of health, said that mechanical filtration was not worth considering. Said Dr. Burns:

Sand filtration is the ideal method of purifying water; in fact it is the only way that has been found to remove germs of disease from water without injuring the fluid because it is the natural way.

There is no doubt where the majority of typhoid fever cases originate, for typhoid fever and cholera are the only water-born diseases and they all originally come from that unless it is a rare case of contagion from a more direct source. The rivers are natural drains of the communities through which they flow, and as long as the latter are populated there will be a possibility of contagion. We know the efficacy of purifying water to stamp out water-born diseases, for, after all other methods failed, the cholera epidemic in Hamburg, Germany, was blotted out by the purifying of the water supply for that city by sand filtration. Of course there are always a certain amount of germs in the water, and as long as typhoid fever bacteria are so numerous there will be epidemics. If cholera germs were to find their way into the local streams there would be an epidemic of that disease.

The Bellevue Water Company has gone out on Neville island and sunk a number of artesian wells, and the water is pumped from them into the mains. The water is nothing but river water filtered through the sand of the island, and it is about as pure as any found in this state, proven by analysis, and a search for bacteria has always been fruitless of results.

I doubt whether a mechanical filtration is possible for the alum used in the process robs the water of the essential salts and makes it unfit for use. This is shown by a chemical analysis.

Mechanical filtration was tried once before in this section and was backed years ago by the capital of a politician high in the ranks of his party, who expected to reap a fortune from the city contracts for the plants. Another bacteriologist and I experimented with the process and discovered by chemical and bacteriological analysis of the water that the plan was impracticable and it was abandoned for the time being.

Store Closes Today at 1 P. M.

An Apology.

It is not often we have to apologize to our public. Indeed, we daresay that in our 54 years of store-keeping a half-dozen times would cover the number of apologies we have had to make.

In our news of yesterday afternoon we said there would be good choice left today in the foulard and taffeta silk suits selling for $9.50. That was an innocent error on our part. The facts are as follows:

By express from New York yesterday, ordered by telephone the day before, 229 silk suits came to this store. They were ready an hour earlier than we had given you to understand they would be. They came to our receiving room at 10 o'clock and at 10:30 they were on sale. Very few women were ready for them at 10:30, because we had set the hour of arrival an hour later.

But when that hour came around scores of women were here for the suits—so the 229 dwindled down to where we have but 32 left for today.

If you can find in these 32 suits, some of them of foulard silk, others of taffeta, something that pleases you and is your correct size, you will be purchasing one of the finest silk suits ever sold for $9.50, and one of the suits which caused the greatest stir in suit selling ever known in the Greater City of Pittsburg.

DUST OF PROMINENT PITTSBURGHERS MOVED

Lifting Bodies in Trinity Churchyard, Preparatory to Beautifying the Spot.

The first disinterments from the northeastern corner of Trinity church yard in Sixth avenue, preparatory to sodding and beautifying the plot took place yesterday. The remains of David Henry and his son, Patterson Henry, the father and brother respectively of D. F. Henry, the well-known hotel man, were removed to the Allegheny cemetery. Today the historic shaft that marks the resting place of Judge Trevanian R. Dallas will be razed and the dust will be taken to Homewood cemetery.

The vestrymen of the church are preparing to sod the ground, and as soon as those who desire to remove their dead have finished the work, flowers will be planted. More than a score of the graves in the plot will remain undisturbed.

The monument on Judge Dallas' grave was erected in 1845 by the Allegheny County Bar association. It bears the following inscription:

"In memory of Trevanian R. Dallas, a judge of the district court of Allegheny county, who departed this life on April 7, 1841, aged 40 years. This shaft was erected by the members of the Allegheny county bar."

The remains of Mr. Henry were incased in a metalic casket which had been remarkably well preserved, notwithstanding that it had been in the ground since June, 1837.

Two young children of Rody Patterson, a former well known Pittsburgher, will be disinterred also.

WILL TAKE CASES TO COURT.

Wilkinsburg Druggists Who Were Fined Decide to Appeal.

By the decision of Burgess John A. Keys, given yesterday morning, four druggists of Wilkinsburg will have to pay $25 each for violating the blue laws last Sunday. Informations were made by the druggists against themselves Monday morning, a few minutes past midnight, about the same time the Committee of Twelve made similar informations. The druggists were fined $25 each before Justice Walker and their fines were remitted.

They claimed they could not again be convicted, although Burgess Keys held otherwise, and they will have to pay their fines.

Attorney McIntosh, for the druggists, says the cases will be taken to court. The defendants are S. W. Covell, W. L. Smith, Berlin & Co. and M. J. McGann.

Councilman Wasson pertinently suggests there are no municipal funds for the payment of a junketing commission in the interest of the alum water process. Of course the expenses might be paid by the mechanical filter boomers, but as Mr. Wasson says, such a course might cause comment. In the face of the increasing typhoid death rate and disease list, the only proper thing to do is to take the data and the funds at hand and get busy.

Whatever fate may befall the conferences or agreements of leaders or influential politicians, the essential element in the political situation is that the new Republican organization maintains an open door whereby any citizen may enter and guarantees that all who come in will have an equal voice in naming candidates and formulating policies. That is a broad enough foundation for genuine reform and good government. It promises better results than fusion deals based solely upon a division of the spoils of office, and whether the leaders agree or not the door will remain open.

It is high time for the state board of health and the township boards to decide upon a plan of action and arrange for the proper quarantine of contagious diseases. It is true the contagions are in the aggregate productive of no more fatalities than typhoid, but if allowed to spread without restriction they may become so. In the matter of both, prevention is better than cure, and in the case of contagious disease the effective measures of prevention are seclusion during its course and thorough disinfection afterward. A house in which scarlatina or smallpox has been is not to be regarded as safe without disinfection simply because other cases do not develop, for some persons are temporarily, if not permanently immune.

Suits have been brought to test the new law prohibiting the employment of children under 16 years of age about the coal mines. The law was passed at the behest of the anthracite miners as an outcome of the strike and the inquiry by the president's commission last year, and it is said was intended to apply to the anthracite mines only. It is obnoxious to the miners of the bituminous districts and their leaders denounce it roundly. It works hardship to deserving people, preventing sons of widowed mothers from assisting in the support of the families and also operating to prevent the employment of boys during school vacation. It is likely if the law is sustained in its entirety the bituminous miners will petition for its modification or repeal at the next legislative session, as well they may. The primary purpose of the law, namely, to prevent avaricious parents from depriving their children of schooling in order to profit by their labor, is good, but the statute is carelessly drawn and makes no exceptions.

As a means of preventing a quorum at the meeting of common council Monday the Leader gives prominence to a story that the meeting called "under the pretext of taking up the filter question is really to be held for the purpose of again passing the franchise grab." The idea is expanded and worked up into a column article with a scare head. As the franchise ordinance has already passed common council this is rather far-fetched, but to get around this point it is averred that "the railroad people are afraid a contest in the courts may knock out the franchise, and want councils to act on the measure again," and so they have resorted to "the trick of having the meeting called for filtration." This upon its face is imaginative nonsense; there is not a shred of fact to sustain it. Councilman Wasson, who procured the signatures to the call, was an opponent of the franchise ordinance passed by common council, and it is absurd to charge him with acting as an agent for the railroad people. A number of the signers also opposed the railroad ordinance. Under the rules of councils action at a special meeting is limited to the subject specified in the call, and it takes a two-thirds vote to suspend the rules. The story is plainly concocted in the interest of the alum lobby hold-up of the filtration ordinances.

The only reason the Leader gives for preferring alum water to filtered water is that the latter is the more expensive. It does cost more to put in a sand filtration plant than an alum mixing apparatus, but the former lasts forever and improves with age. The latter is a factory plant, which begins to wear out as soon as use begins, and the expense of the process is heavy. The government investigation at Washington showed that for a plant smaller than Pittsburgh requires it would cost $50,000 a year for the alum alone. Another objection made by the Leader is that the construction of the sand filtration plant will put millions in the hands of the politicians to spend. The work is all to be done by contract and there is no special apparatus or material to limit the bids. If there is any fraud it can only be by collusion between the department of public works and the contractors, so that this objection is an imputation upon Director Bigelow's honesty. There is enough money in hand to cover the cost of the pending contracts, and these provide for the construction of the filtration plant. The meter system can be gradually installed between now and 1906—when the city will have the right to supply the South Side. There is no need for any more money at present nor any good reason for delay. As Controller Larkin has said: "If those responsible for the delay were as much interested in filtering water as they are in filtering money they would get to work and give the people what they are demanding."

Trying to Find Itself.

In this week's issue of his paper Mr. Bryan makes a detailed defense of his party standing as a Democrat, which has been questioned because of the fact that he supported Weaver, the Populist candidate, for president in 1892, and not Cleveland, the Democratic nominee. Mr. Bryan states that he made Democratic speeches before he was old enough to vote, and invariably voted the regular Democratic ticket, except in 1892, when he says the Nebraska Democrats were urged to support Weaver as the best way to defeat the Republican electoral ticket in that state. He quotes a letter from the Nebraska member of the Democratic national committee recommending such action, and certainly establishes the fact that he acted in accord with Democratic party policy as laid down by the managers of the Cleveland campaign. Mr. Bryan says he is glad he happened to vote for Weaver instead of Cleveland, as when he "became personally acquainted with the two men he found that Gen. Weaver was infinitely more Democratic than Mr. Cleveland in environment, principles, purpose and method."

While Mr. Bryan clears his record as a Democrat, he does not establish the right to dictate party policy, which he so freely exercises. The masses of the Democratic party have plainly had enough of Cleveland, but Bryan's efforts to read Cleveland out of the party are redounding to the advantage of the ex-president, and his party standing is perceptibly improved. Mr. Bryan's efforts to promote the organization of Kansas City platform Democratic clubs are meeting with scant success, as is shown by the record in his own paper. The movement is evidently a failure.

While at present the drift of sentiment in the Democratic party is to drop the financial issue, from which Bryan derives all his consequence, and take up the tariff issue, there is marked difference of opinion on that point, too. There is a growing sentiment that the old tariff-for-revenue-only cry will never again arouse the people. The Brooklyn Eagle, which is a leading organ of the reorganizers, admits that "the party will have a good deal of trouble in dealing with the tariff matter," and it frankly tells why. It says: "The country has become used to protection. It is opposed to free trade, or what can be truthfully or falsely called free trade." The Eagle urges that the wisest course is to champion "a national and not a radical revision of duties." The Washington Post goes so far as to advise that the protective policy be frankly accepted and indorsed, and that the issue be simply that of tariff revision.

The meaning of it all is that the Democracy has not yet found itself, but it is in the way of doing so. The party is gradually getting into shape to make the most of its political opportunities.

The Eastern War Cloud.

Though war in the orient has not seemed imminent to people in this country, the subject is taken more seriously elsewhere. Japan is actively preparing for hostilities, if news reports be true, and Russia is busy accumulating the material and munitions of war. Both of these nations appear to regard war as a probability and Europe takes a no less serious view. The Japanese reasoning is that it is better to begin fighting before Russia has seized everything worth fighting for, and Russia, while protesting that it desires peace, shows no inclination to give up anything to secure it.

War between Japan and Russia would not be so bad, but there is the prospect that if they begin Great Britain and France may become involved. There is a chance that other nations may be drawn in, including the United States and Germany, both of which have extensive interests in the area of disturbance. It is not easy at this distance to decide exactly upon the merits of all the points at issue, but we hope war is not the only means to reach a decision, and we suggest to Russia in particular that The Hague tribunal is entirely competent to adjudicate the respective rights of the powers in China and Korea.

A True Obligation.

There was no meeting last evening of the committee for the investigation of the bureau of health and no attempt to hold one. Two members are out of the city and one refuses to attend meetings. Under the circumstances the matter will apparently go over until after the summer vacation. Councilmen, of course, cannot be expected to work during the heated term, though contagion and infection will take no vacations. The health bureau will run right along during the dog days and other days. If it is working on proper lines, well and good; if not, the people can suffer until it suits the councilmen to get down to business.

We have no desire to question the right of members of councils to take vacations. They need rest and recreation as others do. They are not paid for attending to the public business and cannot afford to devote their whole time to it. But it does not follow because of these facts that the public business ought not to be attended to, or that any councilman has the right to absent himself from important meetings because it suits his caprice to do so. If the gentlemen who are unwilling to give the public business the time and attention desired while they are in the city would kindly resign, the public would try to elect men in their places who would give heed to public desire rather than their own fancy.

There is no law that compels any citizen to hustle for election to councils. When a man becomes a candidate and strives for election to the city legislature he commits himself to the public service. He takes an obligation just as truly as if he was to be paid for the work. Whenever he feels that obligation burdensome he ought to resign. And the hold-up councilmen of every description will not be missed if they get out. On the contrary, it will be felt that nothing in their councilmanic careers became them so much as their leaving.

The Business Situation.

Forced liquidation in the stock market continued throughout the week and carried the average of values down to the lowest in years. The effect has been to greatly diminish borrowing power based upon stock market securities as collateral, and also to further postpone the floating of new stocks and bonds, the proceeds of which are needed for improvements and extensions. A certain per cent of the latter, which has been planned, must necessarily be held in abeyance. To this extent the action of the stock market is detrimental to general business, because it will hold back projects which would otherwise have been carried forward, lessening the demand for labor and material and reducing the disbursement of money that would have found its way into general circulation. Two corporations of national prominence—the Pennsylvania railroad and the United States Steel Corporation—have supplied their needs in this respect, and their improvements and economies will not be affected by a lack of means. The requirements of other corporations will only temporarily be held in abeyance, so that business is being merely dammed up at present. When market conditions change the new work will be taken up and pushed all the more vigorously.

This cheerful view is justified because it is generally admitted that the present demoralization in the stock market is not due to any adverse developments in legitimate business affairs, but to overspeculation, and to experiments in corporation finance that have been attempted during the past three years. The suspensions announced on the stock exchange yesterday have already cleared the atmosphere in Wall street, because they have removed the cloud of suspicion that was resting upon other houses prominent in speculative operations, and have confirmed the view that the trouble is local to "the street."

The situation of affairs in speculative and commercial circles naturally renders the banks a little more cautious and exacting in their treatment of borrowers, and this attitude stiffens the money market. The adoption of a similar policy in "boom" times would tend to check overspeculation and prevent a recurrence of the disturbances now being witnessed.

When one withdraws his gaze from Wall street and looks around over the country the eye encounters much of an encouraging nature. The crop reports of the week show that further progress has been made by the corn crop in recovering the ground lost earlier in the season. During the week the government report has been supplemented by those collected by railroads traversing the great agricultural sections of the west, and these show that the outlook is unusually promising. Railroad earnings are also maintained at a wonderful rate, and complaint is already being heard of a shortage of cars to move the freight offering.

There were no exports of gold this week, and there has been such a decided improvement in the foreign financial situation as to indicate that this country may again draw upon foreign money lenders to tide over any stringency which may occur here this fall. The report of the Bank of England on Thursday showed a percentage of reserve of 57.96 per cent, the highest reported in more than seven years. The Bank of France also made a strong showing in the gain in gold. Today's statement of the associated banks of New York ought also to make a favorable exhibit. There is little doubt that an enormous amount of investment funds is being held in readiness for use when the market indicates that a turn in the long downward movement has come, and the release of these funds will have a good effect.

The Tin Syndicate Checkmated.

In the warm debate now going on in England over protection and free trade, an instance of the value of the protective policy has just been brought forward which is of special interest to this country and to the Pittsburgh district in particular.

It is well known that under British rule the Malay peninsula has become the world center of tin production, supplying more than 61 per cent of the whole. The American market takes 70 per cent of the entire Malay output of tin. Some time ago word reached the British authorities in the Malay peninsula that a syndicate had been formed in this country to purchase the ore instead of the metal, and do the smelting in this country, securing protection for the industry by a duty on tin. It was calculated that this would cause the Singapore smelters to lose their American market and would force them to shut down. The American smelters being the principal purchasers of the ore would have the producers at their mercy and could dictate their own terms. Hence the British colonial government on May 16 by executive order imposed a special duty of $30 per 133 pounds on all tin ore exported. It is officially announced that the purpose of the duty is to protect the smelting interest, which is a sufficient notice that any necessary duty will be imposed to make foreign consumers purchase metal tin instead of tin ore. As the London Times puts the case:

> The government of the federated Malay states has declared war upon a group of American speculators who are backed, it is believed, by some of the greatest names in the world of finance, and to that end has embarked upon a policy of protection.

Of course, we have no right to complain of this policy, although it undoubtedly cuts us out of the establishment of a tin smelting industry in this country. The British colonial authorities were too smart for us and have checkmated a promising commercial enterprise, but in so doing free trade principles have been openly violated. This particular form of protection is prohibited by our Constitution, which expressly forbids the imposition of duties on exports. Otherwise an export duty on raw cotton would play havoc with European cotton manufacturers, and give the United States a practical monopoly in that field.

It is not so much that the long resident population of Pittsburgh has become immune from the ravages of typhoid bacilli as it is that the newcomers have not yet learned to boil their river water before drinking.

Call them bacilli, or germs,
Microbes, bacteria, or worms,
They sport just the same at the old typhoid game,
While councilmen serve out their terms.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

Prof. Erich Narcks, the biographer of Emperor William I., has been asked by Prince Herbert Bismarck to write a life of his father.

The officials and friends of Trinity college, Hartford, favor the selection of the Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes, Jr., secretary of the Yale Corporation, for the presidency of Trinity.

Prof. Irwin Rautenstrauch of Washington university, who formerly lived in Sedalia, Kan., has asked the courts to change his name. Nobody in this country has ever been able to pronounce it right, and the professor has got tired of being called "Rottenstraw," which was conferred upon him in his school days.

Prof. Samuel Pierpont Langley, whose impending experiments with an airship near Washington are attracting considerable attention, is, officially, the secretary of the Smithsonian institution. He is widely respected as a physicist and an astronomer. For many years he has been experimenting with various principles in air navigation, much of his work being in co-operation with Dr. Alexander Graham Bell. Prof. Langley was born in Boston in 1834, was educated in Cambridge and Oxford. He has written several works on astronomy, dynamics and aerodynamics.

Fools and Their Money.

Sympathy goes out readily enough to persons suffering the loss of money through no fault of their own. It can be offered but grudgingly, if at all, to those whose own folly and greed render them easy victims of the get-rich-quick operators. So well and thoroughly have these swindling concerns been exposed that one would say the demand for new victims could no longer be met by any supply. Yet the latest enterprise of the sharpers seems to have found quite as many and as "easy marks" as the very first. —New York World.

Poison-Proof Mosquitoes.

LIFE AND DEATH.

So he died for his faith. That is fine—
More than most of us do.
But stay, can you add to that line
That he lived for it, too?

It is easy to die. Men have died
For a wish or a whim—
From bravado or passion or pride.
Was it hard for him?

But to live; every day to live out
All the truth that he dreamt,
While his friends met his conduct with doubt,
And the world with contempt—

Was it thus that he plodded ahead,
Never turning aside?
Then we'll talk of the life that he led—
Never mind how he died.

ERASMUS WILSON.

Day after day, day after day,
We stuck, nor breath nor motion,
As idle as a painted ship
Upon a painted ocean.

Water, water, everywhere,
And all the boards did shrink;
Water, water, everywhere,
Nor any drop to drink.
—The Ancient Mariner.

They must have had typhoid fever, but not being posted himself, nor having a bacteriologist on board, the Ancient Mariner knew not what ailed them, nor is it definitely known to this day.

However, if a modern Mariner were found with symptoms about his person such as described in this case, he would surely be haled, or hauled, to the nearest marine hospital, assigned to the typhoid fever ward and kept on gruel and ice; also on his back, for at least one lunar month; not that luna had anything to do with the case, but just because the disease seems to course with the moon.

The fact that typhoid fever comes in waves, as stated by an expert bacteriologist recently, applies with special sort of fitness to the case of the Ancient Mariner, as recorded by Coleridge.

* * * * *

You may have noticed that typhoid fever does come in waves, and the records in the bureau of health will reduce this to a settled fact.

But haven't you noticed, also, that these waves are coincident with certain meteorological waves—the same that cause colds, sort throat, phthisis and general malaise, or that tired feeling?

The records of the weather bureau, if full and complete, will reduce this to a settled fact, also.

* * * * *

That typhoid fever follows a cold, or supervenes when there is simple fever, does not put the specific microbe out of business. On the contrary, this fact will account for its pernicious activity, and excuse it, as well, for it cannot help doing business when the conditions are particularly favorable. Indeed, it would deserve severe censure if it didn't get busy under such circumstances.

Like any other microbe, it has a specific work to do, and like all of nature's special agents, it does its work without fear or favor.

It is ever on the go, ever on the lookout for favorable places in which to locate, ever willing to accept our invitation to bide with us awhile.

And it may be a good microbe under certain conditions, but bad conditions may change it to a bad microbe, for abnormal conditions of matter means a general change, or perversion, of its elements as well as of its functions. Thus a microbe that is good under normal conditions may become bad under abnormal conditions.

* * * * *

"God save thee, Ancient Mariner!
From the fiends that plague thee thus—
Why look'st thou so?" with my cross bow
I shot the albatross!

* * * * * *

And I had done a hellish thing,
And it would work 'em woe:
Now all averr'd I had killed the bird
That made the breeze to blow.
"Ah, wretch!" said they, "the bird to slay
That made the breeze to blow!"

Nor dim, nor red, like God's own head,
The glorious sun uprist:
When all averr'd I had killed the bird
That brought the fog and mist.
"'Twas right," said they, "such birds to slay
That bring the fog and mist."

We may, and often do, blame our ills on things that are innocent, the same as the Mariner's crew blamed the albatross. And like the crew, we are quick to change our minds on very slight pretexts, and without due consideration. Because the sun shone clear the next morning they jumped to the conclusion that instead of it being the bird that made the breeze to blow it was the bird that brought the fog and mist.

It is possible that we may find that the microbe which is said to infest the waters of our rivers is not the real cause of the fever that hovers about our cities. There is even a possibility that we may yet learn that this same microbe is entirely innocuous and harmless, if not useful, when the physical conditions of our bodies are reasonably good.

There is no doubt—or hardly a doubt—that microbes, like bedbugs, fleas, and other vermin, are more plentiful where they have been bred and permitted to multiply and increase, than where they have never been allowed to locate. For this reason, if for no other, typhoid fever would be more prevalent here than in cities and towns where the microbe has not gained a residence.

* * * * *

For many years—time out of mind, for that matter—Pittsburgh has been noted for a peculiar form of cold in the head, which is known far and wide as "Pittsburgh grip." Long enough before la grippe came to this country Pittsburgh grip had become a terror to star singers, actors and orators.

That this malady is general, and more or less prevalent the year round, you know yourself. Not long since a medical doctor who has traveled extensively, studied abroad, and ranks among the best in his profession, said that among the hundreds of patients he had examined here there were not half a dozen who were free from that form of catarrh known as Pittsburgh grip.

As you probably know, certain changes of the weather, particularly from dry to wet, and from warm to cold, give fresh cold to those who are troubled with the grip, or catarrh of the air passages. And it is following these that the waves of typhoid fever seem to come—wave after wave, as it were—first a wave of unfavorable weather, then a wave of cold in the head, then a wave of typhoid fever.

It is possible that the common cold, or simple fever, produces and furnishes the nesting place for the typhus microbe, or the one that has been found during the presence of the disease, but not before; at least not in the waters of our rivers, as far as known.

But that there is something in some water that favors the development of typhoid fever there seems to be abundant proof; and yet we are asked where there is water that will not do the same under favorable conditions.

* * * * *

If you have had any experience with typhoid fever you have noticed, no doubt, that it begins as a simple fever, or cold. Its symptoms become more pronounced, but for several days the doctor can only say it looks like typhoid. If these symptoms continue for a week the fever is said to be systemic in that it affects the whole system rather than a part of it. Should some particular part be specially affected, such as the brain, the lungs, or intestines, then it is known as brain, lung or enteric fever.

Typhus, from which we get the name typhoid, signifies stupor, and is applied to that form of continued, or systemic fever, which is characterized by great prostration or stupor. As it progresses various intestinal lesions may appear, particularly inflammation, and possibly ulceration of the glands of Pyer.

However, according to the latest grouping of symptoms, those of the head, throat and air passages are usually the most pronounced during the first two weeks, indicating that the lesions, or derangements, are confined to these parts, as they naturally would be if the disease began in them. There is congestion of the soft tissues and of the blood vessels in the upper air passages, or nasal fossa, and in the fauces, causing frontal headache, pain in the eyes and back of the head, and heat and dryness of the throat and tongue. The disease then more or less gradually follows the mucous tract, specially affecting any particularly weak spots that may be encountered.

* * * * *

Whether typhoid fever begins as typhoid, or supervenes upon common colds, or simple fevers, is a disputed question. "And when doctors disagree who shall decide?"

It matters little which side gains the decision, since the rational treatment of the disorder does not depend upon it. Empirical treatment, however, would be effected, for if it is decided that it is typhoid fever from start to finish, and that it is entirely, or mainly, due to the presence of a specific germ, or distinct species of microbe, then the treatment would be directed against the germ.

But if it shall be decided that it starts as a simple fever, becomes a continued fever, and finally specific, then the treatment would be directed to the affected parts as indicated by the leading symptoms.

That unwholesome water is baneful to health none can doubt, and whatsoever weakens or impairs the system simply invites noxious germs that may cause death, whether through typhoid fever, consumption, Brights disease, or malnutrition in any of its protean forms.

Therefore, let us have clean, pure, healthful water, and plenty of it.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 24.—Anarchism receives less toleration in this country now than it has at any time since a number of policemen were killed by "reds" in Chicago 20 years ago. Immigrants suspected of anarchistic tendencies are caught as soon as they land in New York, and unless they can show a clean bill of health morally they are packed off to their own country again. Thus seven Italians who landed from the steamer Massilia yesterday were detained at Ellis island, while the authorities investigated their antecedents. The men admitted that they were socialists, but insisted they were not anarchists, so the officials at last decided to let them enter the United States. Five of the seven were bound for Sharpsburg, Pa., and presumably will be there by tomorrow morning. The other two are remaining in New York. Sharpsburg is a place known for the orderly spirit which pervades its community and it is certain that anarchists would not enjoy a warm welcome. When the board of special inquiry at Ellis island decided to let the Italians go through to their destinations in this country it was with the understanding that they would be carefully watched for the next three years. If they develop anarchistic tendencies in that period they will be deported. Of course, the New York officials will not be able to keep a close eye on the men at Sharpsburg, but residents of that place can be depended on to see that there is no waving of the red flag there by the five gentlemen who have been sent there pending good behavior.

Mother Jones Prefers Brooklyn.

Mother Jones is in Brooklyn. She came over to Manhattan to make a speech and incidentally to take up a collection, but she finds the peaceful atmosphere of Brooklyn more to her taste than bustling Manhattan. She intends to spend Sunday on the other side of the East river. She will have to keep watch on her army, however, or she may find all her troops at Coney Island if it happens to be a hot day.

A Newark Idea of a Joke.

They seem to have a distorted idea of what constitutes a joke over in Newark. N. J. David Barsh of that city went to Long Branch on Wednesday, and was expected home yesterday. Someone telegraphed his family that David had poisoned himself, and that his body had been shipped to his home. David walked into the house last night and stubbed his toe against his own coffin in the hall. Then he had an argument with the undertaker, who did not know him and opposed his entrance, after which he found his mother weeping hysterically and his father absent scouring New Jersey for the body of his son. There will be a real death in Newark with the Barshes concerned in it if David can find the person who sent the telegram.

Another Yarn from Paterson.

Paterson is prolific in sensations. One of the houses affected by the cyclone has been tilted to an angle of 45 degrees. It is gravely declared that when one walks through a room in the house he is irresistibly drawn to the lower side by "suction" and at the same time is made seasick.

Farjeon Related to the Rosenbaums.

B. L. Farjeon, the novelist, who died in London yesterday, was very well known in New York. Besides writing novels, which all had a decidedly Dickens flavor, and regarded by publishers as "good sellers," he was a journalist and had written some plays. There is a great deal of talk about him in respectable Bohemia in New York tonight and reminiscences are numerous. Pittsburgh has always been an admirer of Farjeon's literary work. By the way, he was related to the well-known Rosenbaum family of Pittsburgh, of which M. Rosenbaum of the Market street millinery and drygoods firm is the head.

Odor Is Ever With Them.

It seems too bad that the grand jury is complaining that asphalt pavements are not kept in repair when the smell of hot material permeates the city everywhere. If is possible that contractors are not as assiduous as they should be, but certainly a great many pavements are under repair and the average New Yorker is inclined to complain that he goes around smelling like a tar barrel from walking or riding through the fumes in dozens of streets in Manhattan.

Fish Peddlers Are Persistent.

There must be money in peddling fish from door to door in New York. Despite a stringent ordinance forbidding this kind of trading and the establishing of the large peddlers' fish market in Delancey street, there are many men who insist on going about with fish in baskets for sale. A Chinaman invented the basket. It is metal-lined, with compartments, will hold 100 pounds of fish and can be slung over the shoulder by a strap. It looks like the outfit of a notion peddler. The Fish Cutters and Oyster Openers' Protective union will form a detective corps of 100 members to run down the illegal peddlers. Fish carried around in a basket in this kind of weather is generally unspeakable toward the end of the vender's route.

Extending Famous Driveway.

Although there are hundreds of thousands of New Yorkers who never see Riverside drive, local pride in this grand boulevard is so great that no protest is heard against spending $1,500,000 to extend it for 10 blocks beyond One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street in farthest Harlem. It is intended eventually to let the drive reach as far as One Hundred and Fifty-Eighth street. Overlooking the Hudson, as it does, with the Palisades in view across the water, it is to be doubted whether there is a more beautiful thoroughfare in all the world.

Proposed Baptist Summer Resort.

According to the statement of a large real estate firm in this city, they have bought a tract of 1,000 acres on the west bank of the Hudson, where it is the intention to establish a large Baptist resort. It will combine some of the features of Ocean Grove and Chautauqua. The Baptists are a numerous sect and many rich men belong to it in this part of the country. John D. Rockefeller, head of the Standard Oil Company, is one, and his son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is another. The names of these personages have not been mentioned in connection with the new resort, but it is generally understood in New York that they are behind the project, financially and managerially. The Baptist church and its welfare is a hobby with Mr. Rockefeller only second to his interest in the University of Chicago.

Editor and Teacher.

A teacher in one of the Joplin (Mo.) schools sent what he deemed a "seathing rebuke" to a newspaper editor for "butchering the king's English." The editor marked 13 errors of grammar in the pedagogue's letter and sent it back with a note saying he would publish it when it was written correctly.—Kansas City Journal.

The Miller Incident.

The interesting situation developed in the government printing office over the reinstatement of W. A. Miller as a foreman in the bookbinding department after his dismissal by the union may be resolved into a very simple and intelligible proposition. Miller is employed by the United States government. He became distasteful to the Book Binders' union, and, failing to treat its committees with the respect they claimed to be due to them, he was "suspended" for 15 days. For a union to suspend a government employe was a surprising usurpation of power, establishing a new precedent which it would be difficult to defend on the ground of propriety or of law.

Miller seems to have taken the matter philosophically. He spent the 15 days on his vacation, and when his leave had expired he returned to work and resumed his duties. The union members protesting, he was dismissed for that reason by the public printer. The matter having come to the attention of the president, he ordered Miller's reinstatement on the entirely proper grounds that tenure of office in the employment of the government was not dependent upon the action of a labor union, and that his removal because the union demanded it did not establish a sufficient cause for such action. The binders are now threatening the government with a strike if Miller's reappointment is not cancelled, formally declaring that they will not work with him. It remains to be seen whether the government will permit the union to control the office or whether the president will stand firm in the defense of a principle which cannot for a moment be permitted to be called into question.—New York Times.

Miller was ordered reinstated, and the members of the union say they will under no circumstances work with him. Other charges and papers are being prepared for the president's enlightenment, and, of course, if it should appear that Miller is incompetent or that there is proper reason why he should not be retained in the service we trust that for the good of the service he will be thrust out, provided it be done legally and by the proper officials. But it is preposterous for the Book Binders' union to say to the United States government and to the president: "We object to this man, and, therefore, without regard to civil service rules or the law of the land, you shall turn him out, because we say so."

Suppose the lodge of Elks or the Masons or the Knights of Columbus or the Methodists or Episcopalians should say to the government: "We are against this man; you shall discharge him." If Miller is employed by the government and protected by the civil service rules, the book binders have no more right to interfere with him than has the lodge of Elks or any other voluntary and private organization. If it be conceded that the union or any other agency whatever except the proper government officers shall have the power to discharge government employes, the power to appoint should be given up and the government should go out of business.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The book binders say they do not blame the president. He simply obeyed the Constitution and laws in ordering Miller's reinstatement. But they have a constitution and laws of their own, which forbid them to work with a "scab." Therefore they will strike if Miller goes to work. The law of the labor organization is with them superior to the law of the United States. It is surprising that they do not apply the same rule to the president, who, we believe, is a member of a labor union, and declare that he must consider union law as superior to national law on pain of being branded as a "scab." How can they concede that national law should come first with all labor unionists? Is not every citizen equally bound to support the law and stand for the equality of all men, unionists or non-unionists, in the eyes of the government?

Whatever the Brotherhood of Book Binders may think on that subject, there is no doubt about what the people in general will think, and if the book binders force the contest it can result only in the complete elimination of organized labor from the government printing office. The United States can brook no divided authority and no divided allegiance on the part of its employes. If the union workers are not content with the privileges they now enjoy, the government will be compelled to forbid its servants to maintain any active relations with unions which attempt to usurp its right to manage its own business and select its own employes.—New York Tribune.

\+ \+ \+ \+

The assumption that the trouble in the government printing office is likely to shape an issue in the national campaign is preposterous. President Roosevelt ordered the reinstatement of an assistant foreman because he had been discharged without cause recognized by United States law. The Book Binders' brotherhood, from which the man was expelled, is now trying to justify its action. But this has no bearing on the case as far as the government is concerned, and the position the president has taken is unassailable in law as well as in ethics.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

\+ \+ \+ \+

For the government to deny a competent citizen employment merely because he does not belong to a labor union would be to deprive him of a fundamental right of his citizenship—equality before the law—and that would be a crime against the sovereignty of the people.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Explorers to Study Cancer.

The British Medical Journal states that an expedition is to start for New Guinea in August for the purpose partly of ethnological investigation, but also with the object of collecting data in regard to the distribution and etiology of cancer. The latter portion of the work has been officially recognized by the cancer commission. A grant has been made by the Royal society towards the expenses of the expedition, and the Royal Geographical society has undertaken to lend the greater part of the instruments for the geographical investigations which are to be carried out. The expedition, which has been organized in London by Maj. W. Cooke Daniels, will be unusually well equipped, and a schooner with auxiliary steam power will serve as a movable base. There will also be a sea-going launch.

Lady Physicians in Algeria.

A Paris dispatch to the London Times says that the Algerian government has entered upon the interesting experiment of providing native women, who are prevented by their social customs from going to ordinary doctors, with free consultations by qualified medical women. The French colony is thus following the example set by Lord Dufferin in India in organizing a medical service for the zenanas, and by Austria-Hungary in Bosnia and Herzegovina. In each village where the Mussulman population is sufficiently large the government proposes to establish a lady practitioner, providing her with the necessary medicines and instruments, and giving her a salary proportionate to her work. Applicants for these positions must be provided with diplomas either as doctors in medicine or officers of health.

JAPAN WATCHING RUSSIA'S COURSE

NEITHER NATION WANTS WAR

Well Informed Officials in St. Petersburg Say the Czar's Government Will Certainly Not Take the Initiative Promise May Be Fulfilled.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, July 24.—Japan has decided to observe the policy of waiting and watching Russia, advocated by Great Britain. In the meantime she will urge China to carry out the assurances given to the United States respecting Manchuria and will endeavor to obtain the opening of additional ports.

At the Japanese legation here the following statement was made by an official:

"I can assure you that the talk of war between Russia and Japan is an invention. Japan has not the least intention of taking that course. She proposes to wait and maintain her attitude of watchfulness. Japan and America are acting on the same lines, and it would be difficult for any other power to withstand the pressure they and Great Britain could apply."

It is said that Japan intends to do nothing till October, when the final evacuation of Manchuria must occur. The failure of Russia to withdraw from Manchuria would be followed by a serious move on the part of Japan.

The Russian embassy here regrets the confusion which has arisen in consequence of the publication of the report that Prince Ching, head of the Chinese foreign office, has written to Minister Conger, refusing to open ports in Manchuria. The Russian officials believe with Washington that the note was sent before China gave her assurances, and they asserted positively that Russia intends to carry out to the letter the assurances she has given, and that she will not interpose obstacles in the way of China observing her pledge to Secretary Hay.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 24.—The attitude of Japan and the warlike tone of the majority of the Japanese press have attracted much attention in official circles here. It is declared by the best informed people that there is no likelihood of war, certainly not upon Russia's initiative. It is stated that Russia has every motive for desiring peace, chiefly for financial reasons with which are wound up a desire for extensive domestic reforms, which the government considers to be the most efficacious manner of disarming internal discontent and nipping the revolutionary propaganda in the bud.

It is believed to be impossible from the Russian viewpoint for Japan to embark in a contest with Russia single-handed, and it is not thought she will secure the material support of Great Britain or the United States. Nevertheless Russia is taking every precaution to strengthen her military and naval position in the orient, believing this to be the surest means of discouraging Japanese aggression.

M. Lessar's Port Arthur conference is said to have dealt chiefly with these measures, though they are declared to be entirely precautionary, war being the furthest thing from the wishes of the Russian government.

ANOTHER CLAIMANT TO THE LIBERTY BELL

Aged Man of Delaware County Says He Is Owner of Independence Relic.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 24.—Another claimant in the ownership of the Liberty bell has appeared in the person of Charles H. Wiltbank, a resident of Cardington, Delaware county. Wiltbank, who is well advanced in years, visited the city hall this morning, in company with T. S. Bransley of that place, and asked to see Director of Public Safety Smyth. Upon being conducted to the private office of the director, he remarked to Secretary Blynn, the director being absent:

"I merely droped in to speak to you about the old Liberty bell. I can prove a prior claim ownership in the revolutionary relic, but I am satisfied to have it remain where it is in Independence hall.

"I will never make any claim to it, unless my cousins, who are now claiming its ownership should continue to do so, when I will go into the court and prove my right to it."

SCHENLEY PARK SELECTED.

Labor Day Committee Makes Arrangement for the Big Parade.

The general committee of the Labor day celebration, which is to take place September 7, met last night in the Building Trades council hall, No. 225 Fourth avenue. The principal matter under consideration was the listing of the divisions for the parade and the selecting of a place for the exercises. Schenley park was selected for the event.

It was decided that the divisions draw for their positions. Before drawing the United Mine Workers delegates announced that owing to it being first in the parade last year it would accept the 1st in line this year, thus they were not included in the drawing. The structural iron workers, having carried the honors in last year's parade and having a strike this spring, were accorded the first place.

The drawing resulted in the miscellaneous trades getting the second division, the Amalgamated association the third division and the Building Trades council the fourth. There will be five divisions.

The delegates of each division will elect staff and division officers. Each division is to be represented on the chief marshal's staff.

MAMMOTH OIL CARGO NOW ENROUTE TO JAPAN

Largest Shipment of Petroleum in History of Our Commerce Departed Yesterday.

(By Special Wire to The Gazette.)

PHILADELPHIA, July 24.—The biggest cargo of refined petroleum that ever left this port was taken out today by the new British steamship Schuylkill, Capt. Nicholas. The big ship has in her hold 200,000 cases, representing 2,000,000 gallons. It is not only the biggest refined oil cargo to leave this port, but the biggest that ever left any port in the United States.

The Schuylkill is bound for Tokio, Japan, and when she reaches that port she will load with oriental goods for her return trip to this country. She goes via the Red Sea. The Schuylkill came here direct from Glasgow, where she was launched from the yards of Russell & Co. on April 30. It is the first cargo she has carried. Since being here she has attracted a great deal of attention, and there are few shipping people who have not inspected her. This was even done by Gov. Pennypacker. The Schuylkill is owned by the Standard Oil Company.

This huge vessel has a dead weight capacity of 8,400 tons, is 412 feet long, 52 feet bear and 30½ feet depth of hold.

His Eccentricities and Scientific Tendencies Excited Wide Interest.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

HAMILTON, O., July 24.—Dr. John A. Trembly, noted scholar, whose eccentricities excited wide interest, died today at the age of 73 years at his remarkable home in Riely township.

He was a graduate from Miami university, and though he was educated in both law and medicine, he devoted most of his life to mathematics and natural science. His scientific tendencies took strange turns. When he built his splendid home he designed the various rooms in the shape of the various geometric figures which had strange fascination for him.

Some of the rooms were octagonal, others circular, others elliptical. An observatory crowned the structure. The finish of the rooms was no less peculiar. Specimens of every known wood were procured and used in the structure.

COL. QUAY HAUNTS FISHING GROUNDS

Numerous Would-Be Interviewers Are Unable to Obtain Desired Audiences.

AN ALLEGHENIAN'S HEROISM

Frank Hinds Leaps from Pier and Rescues Drowning Man—Refuses to Give His Name, but Is Recognized by Acquaintances.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Young's Ocean Pier,
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 24.

Senator Quay was not at home to the callers who went to the Hotel St. Charles today. Several of these callers were angry when the clerk told them this and insisted that he send their cards to his room, but it was useless. The senator rose at daylight this morning and went up the bay with Capt. Ben Sooy, his sailing master, and did not return until nightfall.

That there will be a conference here is not doubted, but those who should know say that it will not be held for two weeks, and that in the meantime Senator Quay proposes to put in his time in the bays about Atlantic City fishing and crabbing. The owners of the leading hotels say that the statement that no political conference will be held here for several weeks is probably true. They aver that they have not booked any Pennsylvania politicians before the first week of August, when they say quite a number of them will be here. Who have been booked the clerks refuse to say.

Frightening the Timid.

All the newspaper talk about the need of life lines, more guards and more boats for the protection of bathers will have the effect of convincing timid people that Atlantic City's bathing grounds are unsafe, it persisted in. One writer even refers to the beach as "treacherous." It is no such thing. There isn't a finer stretch of bathing ground along the Atlantic coast. To shout about the necessity of more guards, boats and lines when reckless bathers who ignore all common rules of safety are to blame, is unfair to the beach and harmful to Atlantic City. The beach guards, who probably know as much about the beach as any one, take this view of the matter. The force is ample and efficient. Lives are lost when the injunctions of the guards are ignored and men needlessly place themselves in peril.

A Theatrical Colony.

Chelsea has a good-sized theatrical colony spending the summer at the cottage of George Conway, business manager of Ben Hendrick's "Ole Oleson" company at 12 Iowa avenue North. The party includes Mr. Hendricks, who stars in "Ole Oleson;" William Gray, manager of "Two Old Cronies;" George Melville, of the Stair & Warden Company; Lizzie Conway, of Grace George's company; Mamie Conway and George Miller, of the "Stain of Guilt" company; William Miller, who plays in "David Harum;" Belle Francis of the "Ole Oleson" company, and Bertie Conway, of "Two Old Cronies."

Allegheny Boy a Hero.

The hero of the beach this afternoon is Frank Hinds of Allegheny avenue, Allegheny. He was on the ocean pier about 4 o'clock when the attention of the crowd was attracted by a man struggling in the water. The life guards had started after the man in a boat when he sank from view beneath the breakers. Hinds threw off his hat and made a dive from the railing of the pier into the water, striking just where he had seen the man disappear. He rose to the surface with the man in his arms just as the life guards reached the spot, and both of them were taken aboard the boat and landed on the shore, where the man was revived without difficulty. Hinds refused to give his name, but he was recognized by several Pittsburghers.

Newsboys Made Happy.

Over 200 newsboys of this city were the guests of the Morning Sentinel this evening at the performance of "The Streets of New York," given by the Huntley Moore stock company at the Bijou theater. The little fellows gathered at the Sentinel office as early as 6 o'clock this evening, where the tickets were given out, and they formed a mob that taxed the efforts of two policemen to curb their excitement and enthusiasm. At the performance they were a rollicking, whooping lot of young demons, who hissed the villain, cheered the hero and wiped the tears from scrubby eyes with ragged coat sleeves. But they enjoyed themselves as only the juvenile male can, and they left the theater telling each other what a grand success their entertainment had been.

WORKING WIRES FOR NEW POPE

Even Cardinals' Secretaries Are Shown Much Attention by Politicians.

VANUTELLI IN THE LEAD

His Prospects of Succeeding Leo As Pontiff Are Becoming Brighter—Most Formidable Candidate from the Religious Orders, Who Praise His Piety.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ROME, July 24.—Many of the cardinals who have not yet arrived in Rome have sent their secretaries ahead to overlook the ground for the coming conclave. The secretaries find themselves the objects of extraordinary attention from the friends of the different cardinals. The Roman nobles dine them and drive them and find excuses for making them presents. White-haired prelates visit the young secretaries as if they were oracles, in the hope of reaching the ears of their chiefs.

The nobles would take even a more enthusiastic interest in the election if some partisan cardinal had a fighting chance, but patrician cardinals like Macchi del Avolpe have no show. Gotti's candidature has been practically withdrawn, as the case against his brother is worse than first stated, being imprisonment for life. An energetic Roman noble belonging to the clerical party, said to a famous cardinal:

"Why should Gotti be held responsible for his brother's crime?" to which the ecclesiastic replied: "Would you give your daughter in marriage to a man whose brother had committed a murder?"

With the disappearance of Gotti and Rampolla the school has only one other choice after Rampolla himself, namely, Di Pietro. Rampolla, finding he cannot be elected, is working for Di Pietro. This friendship is due to the fact that Pietro who succeeded Rampolla as nuncio at Madrid, faithfully executed Rampolla's policy in Spain. Two principles dominate the sacred college; the first is to elect an old cardinal. No matter how much they disagree among themselves the Italian cardinals are unanimous against the election of an outsider.

An enthusiastic supporter of Rampolla has been Ferrari of Milan, who says that though Leo chose him as secretary of state because he recognized his diplomatic talents, he never gave him an opportunity of exercising them and that he was more an amanuensis than secretary of state. At the request of Rampolla, Cardinal Lombardi is favoring Di Pietro.

Seraffino Vanutelli's prospects are brighter. He now is the most formidable candidate of cardinals from the religious orders. They praise him for his piety. He left a good impression in Germany, Austria and South America, where he was nuncio. France would not seriously oppose him. His brother, Vincenzo, visits him nightly in the garb of a simple priest, accompanied only by a servant. He is the only cardinal ever seen afoot here. The cry of the opponents of Seraffino is that "we are willing to have one pope but not two," the obvious reference being to his brother, who is a scholarly, gentlemanly octogenarian.

Capecilatro has been turned down because of his well-known friendly relations with the Italian government. He is the quirinal's candidate. Oreglia states that if elected he will take the name of Pius X. Vanutelli is obviously the leading candidate.

MARQUIS DE CASTELLANE.

LOCKJAW LAYS CLAIM TO ANOTHER VICTIM

Patrick Carney, a 10-year-old boy, whose parents reside in Tenth street, Braddock, is dying of lockjaw, resulting from wounds received on July 4 while playing with a toy pistol. The victim was shot in the head and the wound never healed.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

Turning gray? Why not have the early, dark, rich color restored? It's easily done with Ayer's Hair Vigor. A splendid dressing, too. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

MRS. GUNNING S. BEDFORD.

Photographed on the deck of La Gascogne on her arrival in America. She is the widow of Gunning Bedford of New York, whose death in Paris was followed by her arrest on the charge of having registered a child as their own to obtain the whole of the vast Bedford estate. She was arrested and kept in jail in London. Mrs. Bedford says the relatives of her deceased husband are prosecuting her in order to get the money for themselves.

HARGISES INTIMIDATE JACKSON GRAND JURY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

JACKSON, KY., July 24.—The grand jury today once more demonstrated its fear of the vengeance of the Hargises by its failure today to find indictments against Bill Britton and Andy Spicer, charged with complicity in the assassination of Town Marshal Jim Cockrill. Riley Coldiron, who testified before the grand jury against them, was arrested later by Sheriff Callahan on a charge of perjury. The grand jury, however, had the courage to order the release of Coldiron.

Lieut. MacLeod and Capt. Foley, with a detail of men, took Charles Green, the witness, to Lexington today. Green's family went with him and he will not return here. It is thought the threats of the Hargises prevented him from making the identification of Cockrill's assassins complete. He said to the jury that Britton and Spicer were not the men he saw with Jett.

Reviewing the work done by the grand jury, it is believed that a good start toward unraveling the whole matter has been made. It is thought that the trial of Curtis Jett and Tom White at Cynthiana will bring to light additional facts, and that the trials of Gardner Plummer and Joe Crawford and Ed. Tharp in Estill county will develop more, and that the fountain head may be reached.

THE DEATH ROLL

Mrs. David N. Greves.

Mrs. Margaret Rebecca Greves, 54 years old, wife of David N. Greves, a well-known contractor, died at the family residence, 1804 Morewood avenue, yesterday morning after a long illness. Mrs. Greves was formerly Margaret Kingan, a daughter of James Kingan, an old resident of Pittsburgh. She was born in Lawrenceville July 10, 1849, and always lived in Pittsburgh. She was a member of the Fourth United Presbyterian church. Mrs. Greves is survived by her husband, three daughters, Isabella, Susan and Margaret; one son, Nelson, and two brothers, Alexander and Robert Kingan, all of Pittsburgh.

Peter McGee's Funeral.

Funeral services over the remains of Peter McGee, the well-known Democratic politician and hotel keeper of this city, who died at Atlantic City last Wednesday, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Epiphany Roman Catholic church. The funeral will be held from his late home at Webster avenue and Washington street.

Obituary Notes.

The Rev. Robert Hall Foute, D. D., for 19 years rector of Grace Episcopal church of San Francisco, who last year was mentioned for the bishopric of Hawaii, is dead of apoplexy. Dr. Foute was born in Tennessee 60 years ago.

Another Druggist Arrested on a Charge of Illegal Liquor Selling.

G. A. Hartley, a druggist of No. 1801 Center avenue, was arrested yesterday on an information made by Superintendent of Detectives Thomas McQuaide, charging him with the illegal sale of liquor. Hartley gave bail in $1,000 for his appearance at a hearing before Police Magistrate T. D. Stewart to be held on Friday next. The arrest is another step in the crusade inaugurated by the police and in which two arrests were made on Thursday.

PERSONALS

William Way of Way, Walker & Morris, and James Mills of Kimbel & Mills, local attorneys, left last night over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad for Mackinac island. They go as delegates to the annual convention of the Commercial Law League of America, which will be held commencing Monday. It is expected that 700 delegates from all parts of the United States will be present. The league is composed of attorneys who make a feature of handling commercial business, and will not admit lawyers employed by corporations. On the train were E. A. Whitman of New York and A. L. Burgess of Burgess & Burgess, Dallas, Tex. Mr. Burgess had been in New York on business and had joined Mr. Whitman on the trip over the mountains. They joined the local delegates. After the convention Messrs. Way and Mills will cross the lakes to Buffalo on their way home.

N. T. Mansfield of Telluride, Col., was a passenger on the Pennsylvania limited last night. He was returning from Baltimore, where he attended the convention of the Elks, representing Colorado lodge No. 692. He said the Baltimore convention was the greatest ever held by the organization. Delegates were present from Manila. Mr. Mansfield is manager of the Colorado interests of the London Corporation. Speaking of the concern he said: "The corporation's best interests are located in the San Juan country, which comprises three counties, San Miguel, Urayand San Juan. The best paying are the Smuggle Union, Tomboy, Liberty Bell and Camp Bird. These mines will break the world's record this year and will yield fully 18 per cent more gold than last year."

The members of the Homestead school board, who have been touring the eastern cities during the past two weeks as guests of Charles M. Schieb, came home today, having spent the past four days at Atlantic City.

J. A. Cunningham of Memphis, Tenn., is at the Monongahela house. For several years he was clerk at the historic hostelry and six years ago went to Memphis, where he is connected with the Hotel Gayoso. Speaking of that city, he said: "Memphis is one of the most prosperous cities in the union at the present time. Realty is advancing every day. Six years ago a piece of property sold for $4,000; last week it brought $44,000. Besides its great cotton and tobacco industries, it is the greatest hardwood manufacturing city in the world. It is also a large distributing center."

P. J. Kane, a conductor on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, left last night for Silver Lake on a two weeks' pleasure trip.

It is said the girls have been in the habit of loitering around the employment agency of Mrs. Meehan, No. 545 Grant street, and that some of the girls there after work have been robbed.

On Thursday night the children, it is said, became bold and each snatched a pocketbook. The one stolen by the Juliana girl contained $8.80 and the one by Mary Fricks $11. After taking the money out the purses were thrown away.

SOCIETY

THE TRAVELERS CLUB has sent out its program for the year. The programs are artistic affairs, bearing the seal and colors of the club. The club members have selected Spain as their general subject of study for the coming year and some interesting papers are scheduled for the club meetings, the first of which will be held in September. This will be more of a social than a business meeting. An address will be made by the president of the club and tea will be served. There will also be music. At the last meeting of the club, held in May, the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. James A. Israel; vice presidents, Mrs. William Macrum and Mrs. W. P. Price; recording secretary, Mrs. John Hamilton; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Harvey McKinney; treasurer, Mrs. R. H. Gilliford. Mrs. Aaron B. West is musical director of the club, Mrs. Benjamin F. Veach critic and Mrs. John Mann L'Amour question box secretary.

The program committee includes Mrs. John M. L'Amour, chairman; Mrs. Harvey McKinney, Mrs. John Hamilton, Mrs. Benjamin F. Veach, Mrs. R. H. Gilliford and Miss Rebekah Witherow. On the social committee are Mrs. Joseph P. Reed, chairman; Mrs. William F. Abel, Mrs. Julian Kennedy, Mrs. L. P. Blair, Mrs. James C. Dick and Miss Margaret Nelson. The summer playground committee is composed of Mrs. William Macrum, chairman; Mrs. Martin B. Leisser, Mrs. George Hubbard, Mrs. George C. Webb, Mrs. Edward A. Jones and Miss Carrie J. Phillips. On the last pages of the program are found the names of the members and their addresses, also the list of the club's dead with the appropriate verse:

Friend after friend departs—
Who has not lost a friend?
There is no union here of hearts,
That finds not here an end.

Third Flower Day.

The ladies at the Central Young Women's Christian association rooms on Fifth street were kept busy every hour of the time spent there yesterday morning in arranging the clusters of flowers for the children at the summer schools and playgrounds. About 3,000 bunches were distributed to the various schools, and for the first time flowers were sent to the creation park, on the South Side, where there is a playground, but no school. Sixteen playgrounds were visited, 470 children receiving flowers at the Allegheny Carnegie library school, 400 at the Forbes school and 300 at the Twelfth ward school in Allegheny. Nowhere were less than 115 bunches left by the distributors. Many contributions have been made toward the flower fund, but still the committee makes an earnest plea for more blossoms, as the bunches sent are at present very small. Yesterday's contributors included Mrs. D. M. Clemson, Mrs. William Carr, Mrs. Robert Pitcairn, Mrs. Alexander Peacock, Mrs. W. E. Lincoln, Mrs. A. G. Campbell, Mrs. T. M. Gusky, Miss Elizabeth Eaton, Miss Annie Darsie and Mrs. E. L. Mattern. The ladies on the committee have always been well remembered by the florists of the city, flowers having been sent this week by a number of local leaders.

Young Mothers

Young married women must remember that the experience of maternity should not be approached without careful physical preparation.

A capable mother must be a healthy mother; the birth of the first child is an especially trying experience, and nature needs all the help it can get. Correct and practical counsel is of the most vital importance to the would-be mother. Mrs. Pinkham's advice at such times, together with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, have guided many a young woman through this trying experience with the happiest possible results. Her advice is that of a mother with an experience with thousands of such cases, and given entirely free.

By special permission we publish the following three letters, showing the absolute necessity of proper care and advice at the time of maternity. That of Mrs. Sexton illustrates the dangers of maternity. That of Mrs. Hanson the suffering during the period; and that of Mrs. Massey the troubles that may beset a young mother after child-birth; and they all illustrate the wonderful value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in such cases.

Mrs. Lilie Sexton, Ashland, Ky., Boyd Co., says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wrote to you in Sept., 1900. I had been married two years and had two miscarriages, one at six months and one at seven. My organs were very weak. You advised me to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I began at once and used 13 bottles.

"In June, 1901, I again expected to become a mother, and now I have a fine baby girl, two months old. I took the Compound all the time during pregnancy. I cannot praise your remedies enough."

Mrs. Karianna Hanson, Box 343, Worthington, Minn., says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to send you my sincere thanks for your kind advice and for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and your letter of advice have done me.

"When I wrote you I did not see a well day. I was to become a mother, and had headache, dizziness, poor appetite, was nervous, had pains and cramps in abdomen and swollen feet.

"After following your advice I soon began to feel better. When I had taken four bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt real well. My baby when three months old weighed over twenty pounds.

"I cannot praise your wonderful medicine enough, and would advise all suffering women to write to you and use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Mrs. M. M. Massey, Sulphur Springs, Texas, says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I will tell you what I think about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I think it is a wonderful medicine. I believe it saved my life.

"When one of my children was just five weeks old I took a set-back and came near dying. I was in bed two weeks. The doctor attended me about a week and I got no better. My bowels would nearly kill me at times, only easy when under the influence of opiates. It seemed at times there were knots in my bowels as large as my fist. I had such pain in my left side. I suffered as much as I did when my baby was born.

"I got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound one evening, and by the next day I was nearly easy. I will always praise your medicine."

Surely such endorsement should dispel doubt from the minds of all hesitating women. After reading such letters, if any woman is willing to remain sick, we can only say it is her own fault and she deserves to suffer; for the medicine that has benefited these women and a hundred thousand others will surely help you.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness.

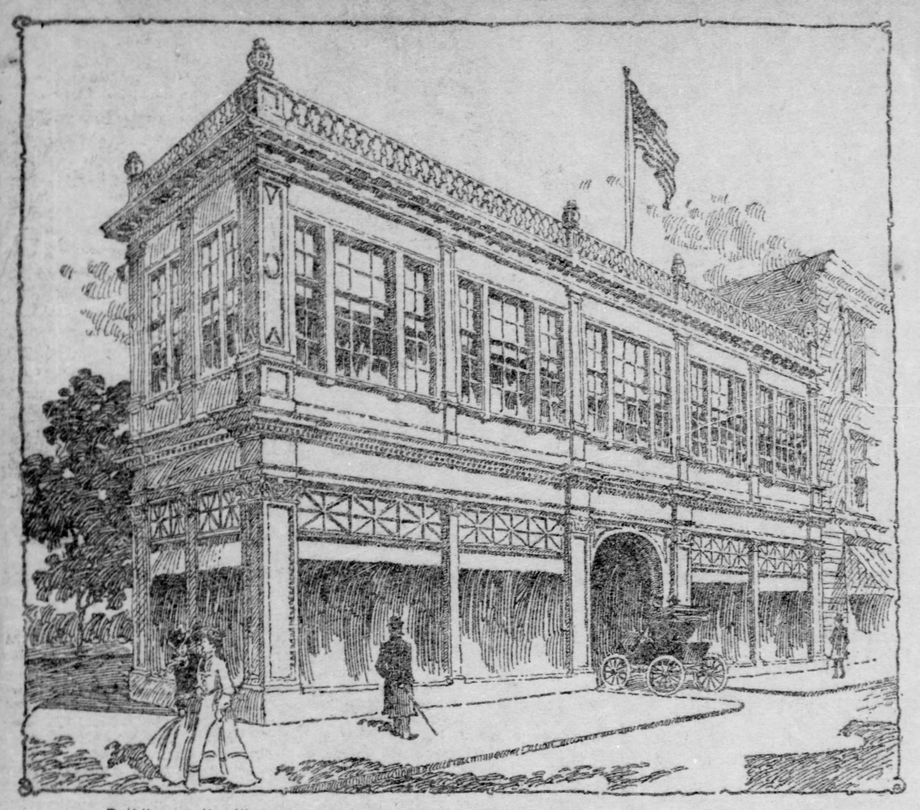
NEW HOME OF THE PITTSBURGH AUTOMOBILE CLUB



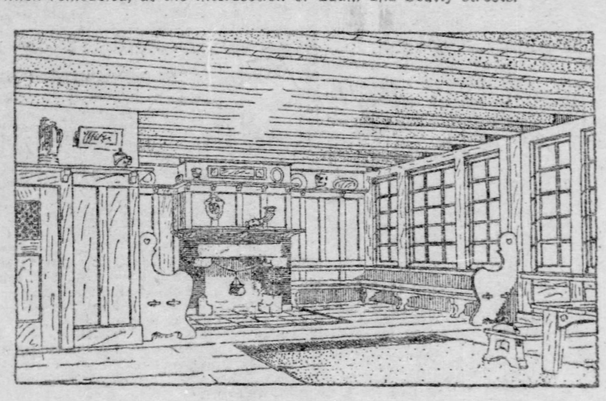
Building as it will appear when remodeled, at the intersection of Baum and Beatty streets.

FINE QUARTERS FOR SPEEDERS

Local Automobilists Will Have No Equal in a Clubhouse Any Place.

MEMBERSHIP GROWING FAST

There Are Now 170 on the List, and About 40 Each Month Are Being Added—Will Take Possession at Once.



Inside view of the papered grill room on the second floor.

It is a little strange that Pittsburgh, with its crooked, narrow streets, steep grades, rough pavements and general up-one-side and down-the-other appearance, should have the finest home for an automobile club in the country. But this is what the local knights of the rubber tire will boast of in a few weeks. Although only two months old, the organization that enrolls the auto sports of this city already has over 170 members and is adding 40 a month to its list—a condition which has made necessary so early a convenient up-to-date club house.

As a home for the Pittsburgh Automobile club its committee has selected the triangular-shaped property owned by the Mellons and located at the intersection of Baum and Beatty streets in the East End. Last week the committee secured a ten-years' lease on the property, which was formerly occupied by the Seeley Manufacturing Company. The terms of the lease are not made public, but are said to be so favorable to the club that it had no hesitancy in going ahead with the plans for the building. Although the deal has not been ratified by a vote of the members of the club it has the sanction of the directors and will be closed at once.

Location of the Clubhouse.

The lot rented is irregular, having a frontage of 52 feet in Baum street, 74 feet in Beatty street, 74 feet in the rear and 16 feet on the front end, where the two streets come together. The present building is a one-story structure which needs little altering to make it very convenient for an automobile stable. This floor will be used for storage rooms for the members' autos. A charging current will be obtained from the market house nearby, thus obviating the necessity of making long trips to a livery to put the machines in shape. Three sides of this room are enclosed with heavy plate-glass windows, making a splendid exhibition room.

To the present building there will be added another story. Plans for this improvement have been prepared by Architects Vrydaugh & Wolfe. The estimated cost of the alterations is put at $10,000. The second story will be laid out elaborately so as to include club rooms, a lounging room, kitchen, grill room, locker rooms and shower baths. For the women members who may wish to use the building similar apartments will be provided. The rooms will be furnished in hard wood and handsomely furnished. A glass wall will practically surround this room and with the awnings will give it the appearance of a roof garden.

No Time Will Be Lost.

The club will get possession of the building at once and will lose no time in getting the work started on the improvements. A more advantageous location would be hard to find, as the building is in the midst of three of the largest automobile establishments in the city. It is also most central for all the most popular drives and for the majority of the members who live in the East End. To make the spot more conspicuous an electric emblem of some sort will be hung in front of the club house. Instead of call bells in the club rooms and grill room the members will make known their wants by tiny horns whose tooting is expected to herald many a merry-making. Experienced chauffeurs will be employed at the club house and hostlers and mechanics will be there to keep the machines in the best of repair and appearance.

Other cities whose dozens of miles of broad, shady, level boulevards and parkways offer the keenest enjoyment to the owner of a good automobile, have older and larger clubs, but none will have a club house that will compare with the one shown in the accompanying cut. In most large cities the club rooms are on the second or third floor of a large house or over some store, while the livery is several blocks away. Here the members can return from a dusty drive, turn their machines over to the stable men and go up stairs to make themselves presentable for any club event. The pleasure and advantage to be derived from the home are expected to attract many new automobilists and by the end of the season the club will probably number 300 members.

Those Who Selected the Site.

The selection of a site for the club home was entrusted to a committee composed of W. L. Smith, W. L. Elkins, Geo. L. Hallman and Reuben Miller, Jr. When the club was chartered in May the initiation fee was made $25 and the annual dues were fixed at the same figure. The initiation fee will not be raised, but at the meeting of the club next Friday night, the question of raising the annual dues will be brought up and an increase of revenue from this source will likely be voted. The present officers of the club are: George H. Flinn, president; W. C. Temple, D. Herbert Hostetter and James Francis Burke, vice presidents; Reuben Miller, Jr., treasurer, and W. L. Smith, secretary.

The next event of the club will be an endurance run to Butler to take place early in August. The route will be out Perrysville road to the Three Degree road, thence via Zelienople and Harmony to Butler. Returning the run will be in on the old plank road and back to the headquarters in the East End. All sorts of fun are booked for the day's sport, which will be broken by a lunch at Butler. An official observer will be in every car. The maximum speed will be 12 miles an hour, and a minimum speed will be fixed that will try the nerves of the novice on country roads. Every car will carry a full quota of passengers, and stops will count out. The award will be made on the general condition of the outfit when it reaches home. The run will not be a race in any sense, but will test the endurance of the chauffeurs and the power of the machines.

STEVENSON PROPOSES COMPROMISE ON BILL

Willing to Give Pennsylvania One Track Along Duquesne Way for Track in Liberty.

Councilman W. H. Stevenson has a compromise on the Duquesne way railroad ordinance, which he says he will submit to the advocates of the franchise. He refers to the letter sent out by the business men of Liberty avenue to other merchants of the thoroughfare in which the improvement is mentioned merely as the removal of the tracks from Liberty avenue to Duquesne way.

"It is not a fair exchange," said Mr. Stevenson, "for the company to give up one track in Liberty avenue and take two tracks along Duquesne way. Let councils give the railroad in Duquesne way just what the road gives up in Liberty avenue—one track. That would be a fair exchange, although the company would get the best end of the deal, for a track in the air without restrictions is of more value than surface track hampered by restrictions as to the running of trains.

"If the company wants an extra track along Duquesne way, then let it pay for the one extra track only or leave it open for other roads to use. If it will not pay anything for the extra track, this will allow some other road to build a track alongside the Pennsylvania."

Councilman Stevenson said he would present this proposition in councils if he found an opportunity. The ordinance is out of common council, but he hopes to have another chance to get his amendment presented either in the upper branch when the measure is taken up there or in the lower branch if the ordinance is changed in select council and returned to the other body for concurrence.

CLAIMS INFRINGEMENT ON PATENT FOR MOVING

Cleveland Man Files Bill Against Contractors on Opera House.

Harvey Sheeler of Cleveland yesterday filed with the clerk of the circuit court of the United States a bill of complaint against Rector & Co. of Chicago, and Langenheim, Cochran & Co. of Allegheny, the contractors in charge of the back part of the Grand opera house in Pittsburg, for alleged infringement of a patent granted Mr. Sheeler for moving heavy buildings. If an injunction is not granted this morning the work of moving the building will be finished without any trouble.

The Grand opera house, a part of which is the Avenue theater, consists of two big sections, one fronting on Fifth avenue, and the other on Diamond alley. The two buildings were connected by a small structure forming a hallway. When the work of widening Diamond alley was started it became necessary to cut off a portion of the building in Diamond alley or move the entire rear structure up to the front building. The latter plan was determined upon.

Heavy short steel rolls are used in the moving, and everything is ready for the actual work of connecting the two structures. It is concerning the steel rolls that the infringement is claimed. Mr. Cochran of the firm of contractors, stated last night that the infringement would have to be determined by court and that the work would be continued as usual. He said that it would require but two days more to connect the structures.

SHOOTING AFFAIR IN M'KEESPORT STRIKE

Excitement Caused When Man in the Tin Mills Fired Two Shots at a Striker.

Despite the efforts of the strikers at the Port Vue tin mills in McKeesport to maintain order a fight occurred last night which has greatly aggravated the situation. William Fletcher, a striker, met Jared Crawford and J. E. Brown, rollers in the tin mills, on the street in the town. After some discussion, Crawford says Fletcher struck at him. Crawford drew a revolver and fired two shots into the air. The three men were arrested by Policeman James Bradley and locked up on the charge of disorderly conduct. A forfeit of $25 was required for each, the tin plate company furnished the money for Crawford and Brown, while the strikers committee secured Fletcher's release. Fletcher denies that he struck Crawford.

Injunction proceedings have been threatened by the officials of the tin plate company owing to the action of the strikers in attempting to cut off the supplies of the men who are in the mill. On the other hand, the strikers allege that the company's officers are courting trouble, and with this end in view they marched a squad of men past the strikers' headquarters in a body. No one was molested.

General Manager J. E. Lauck says the mill is in full operation and that he is satisfied with the conditions.

STREET CAR CONDUCTORS HURT WHILE AT WORK

John Baxter of No. 427 Ridge street, McKees Rocks, and John Vaughan of Wabash avenue, West End, both conductors on the West End division, were injured on the Point bridge yesterday. Baxter was collecting fares on a summer car while it was crossing the bridge and was struck on the head by the superstructure of one of the piers. He was thrown off and received a severe scalp wound. Vaughan was also collecting fares on a summer car and when he tried to pass some people he lost his balance and fell. He was badly bruised and cut.

FLINN-MAGEE PROPERTY MAY BE BOUGHT TODAY

W. H. Self Says the Deed Is Signed and Ready to Be Transferred.

W. H. Self, one of the executors of the C. L. Magee estate, stated last night that the deed for the sale of the Flinn-Magee tract, adjoining Schenley park, had been signed and that the Fidelity Title and Trust Company was ready to turn the deed over to the city and receive the $350,000 which councils have authorized for the payment of the land. The transfer may be made this morning, but if not today, it will probably be made Monday.

The publication yesterday that the court had authorized the sale of the land for $300,000 caused a good deal of comment, but Mr. Self last night stated that the publication was a mistake. He said the amount fixed by the court was $350,000, the same as councils authorized for the payment.

Mr. Self also denied that the Magee estate would receive more than ex-Senator William Flinn as its share of the proceeds. He said the proceeds would be divided equally between Mr. Flinn and the Magee heirs.

REFUSED TO BE DARED, SO THEY WERE MARRIED

Allegheny Couple Quickly Decided on Midnight Wedding at Mercer.

TO BUILD A RAILROAD IN WASHINGTON COUNTY

Pittsburgh Capitalists Purchase Charter of the Old State Line.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., July 24.—A railroad survey is being made from Tylerdale, a suburb of this city, to Dunsfort, in the extreme western part of the county, at the instance of Pittsburgh capitalists, who have purchased the charter of the old State Line railroad and will build a road through the county. The State Line road was to run from Canonsburg to Wellsburg, W. Va., and surveys for the road were made about 20 years ago.

Recently Pittsburgh capitalists secured 2,000 acres of coal land along Buffalo creek, this county, and Brooke and Marshall counties, West Virginia, and are in control of other blocks in the immediate vicinity of Wellsburg, W. Va. The nearest point to Washington touched by the original surveys was what is known as the Knight farm, the terminus of the Western Washington railroad. The Wabash road crosses the State line surveys several times.

As soon as the final surveys in this county are completed the construction will take place.

Doctor Tucker's New and Wonderful Mechanical Device With Which He Is Bringing About More Cures of Bronchial and Lung Troubles, Restoring to More Deaf People the Lost Sense of Hearing, and Curing More Catarrhal Diseases Than Ever Was Known in the Medical Profession.

This wonderful apparatus has revolutionized the treatment of all chronic diseases. It is composed of a number of glass cells, each of which contains a remedy for a certain diseased condition, the remedy being dissolved and incorporated in oil, so that when the instrument is put into use the mixture is converted into an oily, smoke-like vapor, which can be easily driven into every cavity of the body, and which will positively cure all of the diseases in the treatment of which it is applied. It cures

BRONCHIAL AND LUNG TROUBLES

by inhalation. The vapor is formed, the patient is instructed how to breathe, the medicated vapor is carried deep down into the lung cells, coating over the mucous surfaces, not only of the bronchial tubes, but of all the tissues of the lungs, removing all mucous accumulations, killing all germs, and relieving pain, shortness of breath, coughing, and in fact all the symptoms attendant upon such diseases. It cures all forms of which are curable, by another oily medicant, which is forced through the Eustachian tubes up into the middle ear, and which positively cures suppurative discharges, head noises and partial or complete deafness. It cures of the entire system by being absorbed through the lymphatics and through the glandular structure of the mucous membranes.

Doctor Tucker will not increase his charges for services on account of this new and remarkable method of treatment, but will still continue to give to everyone the advantage of his low fee system which he alone has maintained throughout fourteen years of steady, successful practice. His charges will remain but which includes necessary medicines. Every new discovery adds to the expense of the workings of Doctor Tucker's office, but the people have appreciated his services in the past, and he is confident that he will increase his usefulness to chronic sufferers ten-fold by the use of this advanced form of application. This itself is sufficient to repay him for the extra effort and expense.

Continuance of annual shirt sale

THIS sale is arousing the interest of all men who are familiar with these important annual events—they require no urging—they know of the economies—they know of the beautiful styles and sterling qualities that may be bought so reasonably. It was a trick of the manufacturers of these shirts to pattern them after the styles and from the identical materials that generally go into the making of regular $1, $1.50, $2 and $2.50 shirts; but our facilities for disposing of immense quantities wrought a modern miracle in the way of price lowering. Hundreds of dozens of new patterns, new color effects in plain, pleated and French bosom styles, with attached and detached cuffs have been added to the assortments; truly today will be the climax of this great sale for value giving. A clear, clean cut of 20 to 50% on ALL men's suits

By the consumers' calendar, summer has hardly begun—by the merchants', it is about over. To the prudent and progressive retailer, each day now only the more emphasizes the necessity of reducing stocks as near as possible to the vanishing point. And that's the end to which we are bending all efforts and concentrating all our energies and resources. We're determined to preclude all possibility of there being any "left-overs" when the season closes. The intrinsic worth of the suit has no consideration just now. Our sole object is to see the high clothing piles decrease with all possible speed. Out go all suits, therefore, at 20 to 50 per cent discount from the marked prices.

We need cite no better proofs of the downright, positive and sharp reductions at this clothing clearing than the big throngs of shrewd men which are responding daily. And it's not the reductions only, but the clothing itself that is contributing so greatly to the success of this sale. Mere cheapness—lowness of price—is nothing. Poor clothing is really dear at any price. But when clothing of such recognized merit as that displayed on our clothing floor is offered at such decided price concessions, it's quite another thing. Saving money on OUR clothing is just like receiving a present of that much money. You can figure it out for yourself how much you save. LEAGUE GAMES TODAY.

St. Louis at Exposition Park.
Brooklyn at Boston.
New York at Philadelphia.
Cincinnati at Chicago.

Just to show that they still know a thing or two about the art of ball playing, the Pirates, who have been buffeting about on the shoals of disaster for the last five days, took a brace yesterday and walloped the stuffin' out of Patsy Donovan's Cardinal crew, who were a bit chesty over a trio of wins from Joe Kelley's Reds. The score yesterday was 7 to 4.

At that the victory wasn't much to blow about, because at times the champions forgot themselves and thought they were back in Altoona or Homestead. The most forgetful one was Tommy Leach, who has invented a new toss called the "automobile throw." This throw consists of a lot of speed behind a ball and no aim. Tommy uncorked two of them yesterday, and to the new invention can be traced three of the Cardinal's four runs. Claude Ritchey also took a hand in the auto line, and he worked in a beauty of a wild one that nearly tore down one of the posts that supports the shed over the visiting players' bench.

Deacon Phillippe was called on to pitch the game and had the deacon's support been as clean cut as his pitching the Donovan Cardinals would have been soused over with a fine coat of whitewash. The Pirates called for a shutout and there would have been one out for the wobbles of the infielders. There was a crowd of 2,625 spectators out to see the contest and when Leach muffed a fly ball the breath for fear of another minor league exhibition. Previous to the game Manager Clarke had one of those heart-to-heart talks with the big boy, and it is safe to say he was given to understand that there should be no more fooling away games.

Patsy Donovan had on the points for his team the Manning O'Neill brothers, Michael Joyce and John James, who are hustlers in a baseball way from the word go, but there wasn't much chance for them to show up the line yesterday. The hustling part was passed up to the Cardinals' outfielders, who had a busy afternoon chasing the ball after long hits had been made. It was a great afternoon for little "Oom Paul" Kruger, who had formerly been a Donovanite, but who was traded for Jimmy Burke. "Oom Paul" was out to show Donovan that he had made a mistake in letting him go, and he showed it all right.

Out of four times at bat the little fellow who is subbing for Mike Clarke had four hits, two singles and two three baggers. It was a great day for Kruger and the Cardinals did not know where to play for him as he banged the ball to parts of the field. Little Kruger was also there in the hitting and run-getting line, and out of four times up he drew a base on balls and had three singles, besides which he scored once. Kruger's decision certainly contributed his share towards the victory.

The Pirates started off with three runs in the opening inning. Beaumont, who was first up, beat out an infield hit, stole second and took third on Bransfield's sacrifice fly. Wagner and Bransfield were easy outs, but Leach soaked the ball to the fleetest foe in home run, sending Beau home to Sebring ahead of him. With two out in the second Phillippe drew a base on balls and scored on Beaumont's three-bagger to right. In the fifth a three-bagger by Kruger, a single by Phillippe and a pair of errors netted two more runs and in the sixth the final run was scored by Phillippe who singled, went to second on an infield out, stole third on a wild throw by Dement and scored on Maguire's fly out to Donovan.

The Cardinals' two runs in the fifth were a present in the part of Catcher Smith and Leach. Catcher O'Neill led off with a double to right, went to third on his brother's out at first, and scored on Smith's wild throw to the throw to the plate. Donovan forced Farrell at second and Patsy got around on Leach's wild throw of Smoot's grounder. Leach also had a hand in the run that put the seventh, making a wild throw of Barclay's grounder, hits by Burke and Hackett, and a bad throw by Ritchey let in the two runs. The score:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

The pitchers this afternoon will be Dunleavy for the Cardinals and Leever for the champions. This will be the last Saturday game at Exposition park until August 29. The game this afternoon will begin at 3 o'clock.

Jimmy Burke played a dazzling game in practice. He made stops that if they were executed in a game would get the fans to their feet, and he threw the ball around the field like lightning. He had very few chances in the game.

Hackett, the St. Louis first baseman, and Weaver, the Pirates' catcher, are very chummy. They broke into the big league from the Three-I league last season as a battery. While the Pirates were practicing Hackett left his bench and came up to Weaver and conversed with him while he was limbering up his arm.

Umpire Moran held back the game at least 10 minutes because the ball, which is rung from the office at the park, was not sounded for the beginning of the contest. Farrell was up, but Moran made him stay out of the box. The signal was not given and he was compelled to call the game without the usual signal.

The report from Altoona to the effect that "Perk" Kennedy had been injured so badly by having his leg cut that he will be a cripple for life was also there in the hitting and run-getting line, and out of four times up he drew a base on balls and had three singles, besides which he scored once. Leach's decision certainly contributed his share towards the victory.

The Pirates started off with three runs in the opening inning. Beaumont, who was first up, beat out an infield hit, stole second and took third on Bransfield's sacrifice fly. Wagner and Bransfield were easy outs, but Leach soaked the ball to the fleetest foe in home run, sending Beau home to Sebring ahead of him. fly when two were on the bases with two out he purposely threw over Bransfield's head, just to hear the crowd yell, which it did. Leach laughed at the simultaneous yell.

Hackett drew a throw from Ritchey in the sixth when the latter caught M. O'Neill's high fly back in middle field. Jimmy Burke was on third at the time. Hackett got well down the line and when near the second bag pulled for Ritchey to throw the ball just as he caught it. Thinking one of the Pittsburgh players was yelling Ritchey threw over the bag, the sphere going to the St. Louis bench. Burke scored and the Cardinal players were sore because Hackett did not get around also on it. Hackett offered some explanation that seemed to satisfy his fellow players.

Reds Managed to Take a Game from Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 24.—Bard hitting in the first inning gave the locals four runs. Hahn then settled down and was invincible until the ninth, when he was hit for a triple and a single, tying the score that the visitors had made by bunching hits in the fifth, sixth and eighth. A homer by Steinfeldt and three singles gave Cincinnati three runs in the eleventh. Attendance, 2,800. The score:

WILLIS WAS WILD.

Brooklyn Won Game in the Ninth Inning.

BOSTON, July 24.—Willis' wildness, Tenny's ninth inning error and a close decision by the umpire caused the home team's defeat by Brooklyn today 7 to 3. Boston outbatted the visitors, but Jones kept the hits scattered, except in one inning. Even then Strang's error and Jones' temporary wildness were responsible for Boston's runs. Score:

EVENED UP DEFEAT.

Cup Hunter Distanced the Old Shamrock.

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N. J., July 24.—Shamrock III. more than squared accounts with her pacemaker, Shamrock I., today for the beating the challenger suffered yesterday.

Sailing over a 29-mile course the cup hunter beat the old boat 8 minutes, 11 seconds, running 10 miles to leeward, 8 minutes 10 seconds beating 10 miles to windward, and 17 minutes 19 seconds in a reach of nine miles, 20 minutes 40 seconds in all. The challenger's victory running to leeward was flawless.

MAYNARD KNOCKED OUT BY CHAMPION CORBETT

PHILADELPHIA, PA., July 24.—"Billy" Maynard of this city was knocked out in the first round by Champion "Young" Corbett tonight at the Industrial Athletic club. The men were to have boxed six rounds. Maynard was in prime condition, but Corbett was a trifle fat. The fight, as far as it went, was fast and all in the champion's favor. A few seconds before the bell sounded ending the round Corbett caught Maynard on the law with a hard right, sending him down and out. Maynard was knocked down three times during the fight.

SHAMROCK I. WILL RACE WITH COLUMBIA

NEW YORK, July 24.—Shamrock I., the defeated cup challenger of four years ago, will have a duel with Columbia over the America's cup course or at Newport, probably after the cup races are decided. E. D. Morgan, at Newport, has tendered his willingness to race Columbia against her former adversary under conditions and at any time suitable to Sir Thomas Lipton. The matter was closed tonight on board the Erin by Sir Thomas' acceptance of the offer, and a race is certain.

BIRCH BROOM'S VICTORY HAS BEEN QUESTIONED

Claimed That Horse Had Been Racing Under Another Name. One Favorite Won.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 24.—G. B. Morris, who ran second with Gravino in the Brighton Oaks yesterday, protested the stakes today, claiming that Birch Broom, the winner, had been racing in the west under the name of S. W. Street. FIGHT STILL ON.

No Decision in Cleveland Pool Selling Case.

CLEVELAND, O., July 24.—No decision was handed down today by the circuit court in the matter of the injunction proceedings against the Cleveland Driving Park Company to forbid the selling of pools at the Grand Circuit races next week in this city. The case has taken the additional phase that the charter of the Driving Park Company is being attacked by quo warranto proceedings to oust it from doing business in the state, because of alleged violations of a state law relative to pool selling in past years.

Today arguments before the court were devoted to a demurrer against the quo warranto proceedings and up to the time of adjournment the respective attorneys had not concluded. A decision by the court may be looked for tomorrow.

BLUE PRINTS HAVE A VALUE

Important Decision in a Contention Between Two Concerns Manufacturing Steel Cars.

JOHN M. HANSEN EXONERATED

Judge Macfarlane Renders a Decision in Which He Criticises What He Considers Is Unfair, Even if Often Called Good Business.

Blue prints embodying the results of years of study and expensive experiments are of great monetary value and the exclusive property of the originators. This is the substance of the decision rendered yesterday for the plaintiff by Judge James R. Macfarlane in the suit of the Pressed Steel Car Company against the Standard Steel Car Company.

The court orders the Standard Steel Car Company to return to the Pressed Steel Car Company blue prints and dies used in the manufacture of steel cars, which the plaintiff company declares it owns. The plaintiff alleged it has suffered $100,000 damages.

The bill named John M. Hansen, president of the defendant company, who was formerly chief engineer of the Pressed Steel Car Company, and others as defendants. Hansen left the company January 1, 1902, to become the president of the rival concern, and the bill alleges that it had in its possession a great number of blue prints, dies and drawings, the property of the plaintiff, which Hansen had removed.

Judge Macfarlane, in reference to the latter point, said that the defendant company never received or had in its possession these dies or blue prints, nor did Hansen remove them, although there were such blue prints removed by Culverhouse, one of the defendants, but not with the knowledge or connivance of the Standard company, and the material had remained in his own possession till ordered by the court to turn the same over to the prothonotary of the court.

The court further observed that none of the blue prints, originals, or copies had been procured by the defendant from the plaintiff company, but had been sent by that company to railroad companies and one individual. The court cited other cases where the plaintiff allowed its blue prints to go out to third parties and from them copies were secured by the defendant. Judge Macfarlane said:

This case afforded an excellent example of sharp dealing carried on throughout the manufacturing districts called "good business," but for the element it comes in the transactions forcibly strikes the mind.

The chief engineer of the Pressed Steel Car Company promotes a company to enter into competition with his employer. Immediately upon the formation of the concern, a large number of the employes of the old leave and enter the employment of the new. They bring with them, as their unbounded right, the skill and experience gained while working for the pioneer company. This would be able to make company to avoid many of the expensive experiences of the old, and these engineers and draughtsmen, with their knowledge of the construction of the cars, according to their own testimony, have been able to produce in a short time detailed and practical drawings from which the cars could be constructed. They did not do this for their employer's benefit, for no such drawings were available and very accurate. It is idle to say that these drawings are of very little value. The railroads to whom the Pressed Steel Car Company have furnished cars, sent the blue prints furnished to the new company, naturally welcoming the advent of competition likely to reduce the prices. Even some of the subordinates of even head of a department, assists the new company to obtain the result of experiments of the old in a shape that conveys more information at a glance than would the reading of descriptions or the measuring of cars.

The court's conclusions of law are as follows:

First—The defendant, the Standard Steel Car Company is not entitled to the possession of the original blue prints of the Pressed Steel Car Company's cars and car plans, and must deliver them to the plaintiff.

Second—The blue prints and bills of materials now in the hands of the prothonotary are to be returned to the plaintiff.

Third—All copies or tracings of drawings of the Pressed Steel Car Company are to be delivered to the plaintiff, whether the said copies have been made by the defendant or by third parties.

For the purpose of identifying these copies and of obtaining the necessary facts there should be a reference to an expert or examiner, unless the parties agree to some other method of ascertaining the facts.

Let a decree be drawn in accordance with the foregoing and enjoining the defendants from using any of the blue prints or copies thereof. The defendant company to pay the costs.

An official of the Standard Company said last night:

The case will be appealed by the Standard Steel Car Company as Judge Macfarlane clearly stated that Messrs. Hansen, Bierman and Culverhouse, and the Standard Steel Company did nothing of an unlawful nature. No attempt was made during the trial to prove who owned the prints, it being assumed by the Standard that they were the property of the railroads from whom it received them or the railroads would not have sent them.

CHILD LABOR LAW TO BE TESTED BY LOCAL MINERS

Suits Entered by Inspector James Blick to Secure Court Opinion.

Mining Inspector Jas. Blick entered two suits before Alderman John Groetzinger yesterday to test an amendment passed by the last legislature, making the minimum age of boys employed within coal mines 16 years and on outside work 14 years. Previously the minimum was 14 and 12 years.

When the amendment was before the legislature, the bituminous miners supposed it referred to anthracite mines, where conditions are more severe, so made no opposition. They have discovered it governs all coal mines.

Both of the suits begun yesterday are against Frank Schulte, foreman of the Summer Hill mine, near Woodville, one of the Pittsburgh Coal Company's properties. Two violations of the law are specified in the employment of Elmer Schlacker and Stanley Gabberish, both of whom are declared to be under 16 years of age. Schulte gave $500 bail for his appearance at the September term of court.

The cases will be so handled that the question of the validity of the law will be brought before the court for an opinion. Both the miners and the operators are dissatisfied with the law as it stands.

Machinists Ask for an Advance.

Machinists employed in the Pittsburgh Steel Shafting Company works at Rankin yesterday morning struck for the scale agreed upon by the Manufacturers' association. The agreement calls for an advance of 7½ per cent, with other conditions. It is expected the firm will sign the scale and the men return to work on Monday. The company is not a member of the association.

Clash Between Unions.

Brotherhood painters working on the Butler (Pa.) bank struck yesterday because the contractors engaged New York men who are members of the Amalgamated Society of Painters and Decorators to help on the job. The Amalgamated is almost entirely confined to New York city, while the Brotherhood controls the rest of the country. The Butler trouble may result in a merger of the two unions.

SHOE SHINE DAILY AND SUIT PRESSED WEEKLY

New Rules for Frick Building Employes to Compel Neatness.

Spotless Town is to be rivaled by the spick and span Frick building and its complement of neat elevator operators, directors and other uniformed employes of the mammoth structure. A bureau of neatness has been established in the basement of the building, and the employes who occupy positions which bring them in contact with the public will be required to have their shoes shined at least once a day and their suits pressed once a week, and oftener if necessary.

Each uniformed employe has been furnished with a card which contains a certain amount of numbers. One set of numbers is for shoe shines and the other for the pressing of clothes. At the end of every month the men will be required to present their cards to the superintendent, and if any of them have not been to the bureau of neatness the required number of visits a fine will be imposed. The Frick building is perhaps the first in the country to adopt such a unique system. The bureau was started yesterday by D. B. Kinch, the superintendent of the building.

"It looks a great deal better," he said, "to see the elevator operators, the directors and police officers with clean shoes and pressed clothes. While they get a fair salary, I do not think we could ask them to pay 5 cents every day for a shine, so we have provided means for their getting these things free of charge. It is compulsory."

BOY TORN BY A DOG.

Attacked by a Ferocious Animal in the East Park, Allegheny.

Edward Capphan, 9 years old, of No. 1408 Montgomery avenue, Allegheny, was attacked by a dog in the east park yesterday afternoon and his right leg was viciously torn by the beast. Young Capphan was playing in the park near Cedar avenue when the dog sprang upon him. The dog, a bull terrier, had been following Louis Solomon, who was walking through the park with a small dog that belongs to him, and it was when the boy stopped his play to pet Solomon's dog that the other canine went for him.

Officer Diebold beat the dog into insensibility with his mace and carried the boy to Central station, where Dr. J. A. Ahlers, city physician, dressed his wounds and he was taken home. Solomon was arrested for taking a dog into the park that was not attached to a chain, which is a violation of the park regulations. The injured boy suffered badly from shock and it will be some time before he is able to walk.

JUDGE DISAPPROVES OF MURPHY'S DEFENSE

NEW YORK, July 24.—(Special.)—Judge Newburger today frowned upon the unique defense of Lawrence Murphy, accused of embezzling $12,000 from the stonecutters' union. The judge declared that if it was proved that Murphy took the money from the funds of the union he would instruct the jury to convict. Where the money came from or whether it was extorted from employers or not does not enter into the case, he said. This decision did not deter the attorneys for Murphy from continuing the same line and a mass of corroborative testimony was produced.

WHISTLING MADE BASIS OF SUIT

Mrs. Eliza Thaw Edwards Asks an Injunction Against Junction Railroad.

COMPLAINS OF SMOKE ALSO

College Proprietors Sue for a Young Lady's Tuition—Register George H. Stengel Is Sustained in Probating John J. Kelly's Will.

Suit was entered yesterday which contemplates remedying the smoke nuisance in the Oakland district caused by the locomotives of the Junction railroad, and incidentally seeks relief from the noise of the steam whistles of the locomotives of which every resident of Oakland has complained.

Mrs. Eliza Thaw Edwards filed the bill which sets forth that the plaintiff lives in the Twenty-second ward, near the railroad.

The railroad company occupies the route by virtue of an ordinance under the express conditions that it should use no bituminous or smoke-producing fuel nor use its locomotive whistles as signals. For many years the railroad complied with these conditions, but, for the past 12 months the defendant has been using bituminous coal which emits great clouds of dense black smoke and soot and has ceased to use the electric bell for signaling, but blows loud and shrill whistles at all hours of the night.

As a consequence the plaintiff claims her residence is enveloped in smoke which is depreciating the property and also injuring the health of herself and family. The bill asks that the defendant be preliminarily and perpetually enjoined from using smoke-producing fuel and the use of locomotive whistles.

In the same court exceptions were filed by the West Belt railroad to the report of the viewers in the case of Anna Feil, Ida Peterson and Adda Campsey, the reasons given being that the viewers give no complete description of the property in question and that the area of ground stated in the report does not agree with the evidence of the plaintiffs' and defendants' witness.

Suit has been entered by the Misses Elizabeth A. and Hannah T. Shipley against James P. Murphy, to recover $345.32, balance alleged to be due on a year's tuition of Susan Fennell Murphy at Bryn Mawr college.

Judge J. W. Over sustains the decision of the register in admitting to probate a paper as the last will of John J. Kelly, deceased, and dismisses the appeal filed by the register's decision of Mary Patrick and Mathew Kelly, brothers of the decedent. The appeal alleged testamentary incapacity and undue influence. In his will the decedent gave Miss Maggie McDonald, to whom he was engaged, the income of a brick house, so long as she remained single, and the residue of a $15,000 estate to his immediate family in equal shares.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

Mrs. Mary M. Libbey and Mae Lean Libbey took out letters of administration on the estate of Dr. J. E. Libbey. Attorneys Brown & Stewart represent the administrators.

Maria McGunnigle has filed an appeal from the report of the board of viewers in the matter of the condemnation proceedings brought against her property lying along the Ohio river in Ellsworth borough, consisting of 6½ acres. The viewers awarded $38,000 damages.

Nettie Rist has sued Dr. R. F. Conkle for $255 alleged to be due as a balance on an account due her for board and services rendered to the patients of the Forsythe Hospital, of which the plaintiff is the successor to a partnership of which he was formerly a member.

COLOR LINE DRAWN.

The Commercial Telegraphers' Union Inserts Word "White" in Eligibility Clause.

NEW YORK, July 24.—(Special.)—The race question occupied the place of prominence in the convention of the Commercial Telegraphers' union today.

The report of the committee on constitution had reached a portion declaring "all persons are eligible, etc." For 15 minutes the confusion equalled that of the stock exchange on a feverish market day. The omission of the one word "white" caused the uproar.

It seems there are seven or eight colored persons employed as telegraphers in the United States and one in Canada, and the Canadian delegate made a strong plea to let the section stand, but finally after an hour of contention the vote was taken, which stood 58 to 11, favoring the insertion of the word "white." This will bar negroes, Filipinos, Cubans, Mexicans and all races not white.

W. J. Davis, W. F. Craig and C. M. Segord, the Pittsburgh delegates, rather took a broad view of the matter and contended that while they did not like to admit the negro, they thought it a better idea to allow the constitution to stand as read and let the race-prejudice districts bar them out locally, thus avoiding condemnation of the new constitution.

Plans Being Prepared by the P. R. R. for the Elevation of Cincinnati and Columbus Tracks

Plans are being prepared by the engineering department of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh for the elevation of tracks through Columbus and Cincinnati. The work will cost $5,000,000, one-half of which will be borne by the two cities. In Cincinnati about four miles of double track will be elevated on the Cincinnati division, at a cost of about $2,500,000 to the city, and in Columbus about two miles, at a cost of $500,000 to the railroad.

The city councils of the two cities have asked the Pennsylvania lines to prepare plans for the work, and this will be done at once, although the railroad will be given a number of years within which to complete the elevation. A state law passed about a year ago provides for the elevation of railroad tracks by co-operation on the part of the railroad and the city and the division of the cost.

Changes in Officials.

Effective August 1, D. F. Crawford, now superintendent of motive power of the Northwest system of the Pennsylvania lines, will become general superintendent of motive power of the Pennsylvania lines, with headquarters at Pittsburgh. His advancement will necessitate the following changes: T. W. Demarest, to be superintendent of motive power of the Northwest system, vice Crawford; M. Dunn, superintendent of motive power, Southwest system, vice Demarest; S. W. Miller, master mechanic, Columbus, vice Dunn; G. C. Bishop, master mechanic, Logansport, vice Miller; W. C. A. Henry, master mechanic, Wellsville, vice Bishop.

Mr. Crawford will occupy the office of Thomas Johnson, consulting engineer, and Edmund Yardley, statistician of the Pennsylvania lines, on the tenth floor of the Union station. In coming to Pittsburgh it is likely that Mr. Crawford will bring with him F. D. Reed, his chief clerk at Ft. Wayne.

Large Excursions.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad will break its own record today when it carries 8,000 picnickers to various parts of the system. This movement will require 12 trains, and the aggregate mileage per passenger will be 1,542. The United States Cigar Company has engaged three special trains for Woodlawn Beach, where 2,000 of its employes will be given an outing today. The Junior Order of American Mechanics, 400 strong, will spend the day at Cascade park. The order will require six special trains. The commercial travelers will go to Aliquippa park, and provisions have been made for the movement of 2,000 of them in three special trains.

Railroad Notes.

George Ingalls, general freight agent of the Big Four, was in the city yesterday.

President J. W. Patterson of the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western railroad, says that if the people of Canonsburg want the Wabash to enter their town they must offer some inducements. The original plans, he said, call for a line through Canonsburg, but a more direct survey has been been recently made.

The Boys' Brigade of St. Peter's church will go to Midway, on Lake Chautauqua, this morning over the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley division of the Pennsylvania railroad. The party will be composed of 75 people and will require two cars. The brigade will be absent from Pittsburgh for two weeks.

The Pennsylvania railroad yesterday morning started work on the large abutments for the overhead bridge at Frankstown avenue for the Brilliant cut-off. About 1,500 men are now at work on the new line. It was reported at first that Silver Lake would have to be drained, but the engineers now think this will not be necessary.

LOCAL MEN COMPOSE A GOOD COMIC OPERA

Frank Tannehill Purchases "The College Girl" — Promises Sumptuous Production.

Dr. Joseph M. Jackson of Pittsburgh and Samuel B. Weller of Allegheny, have written a comic opera together which will be produced in September. The work has been purchased by Frank Tannehill, the librettist and comic opera singer, and will be sumptuously staged. The opera is called "The College Girl."

Mr. Weller has written the music for the piece. He is an accomplished musician, and had another opera, "The Gay Debutante," produced about three years ago. Arrangements had been made with a theatrical manager to produce the work, but he failed, and young Weller put it on himself. Owing to his inexperience in the theatrical business, the play was not a success.

Mr. Weller lives at No. 1241 Sheffield street, Allegheny, and he travels for his father, who is a member of the firm of Weller Bros., wholesale liquor dealers, at No. 333 First avenue, Pittsburgh. Young Weller, who is 27 years old, has been at Atlantic City for the past few weeks, and it was there the opera was sold to Mr. Tannehill.

Dr. Jackson is a well known Pittsburgh physician. His offices are at No. 1636 Fifth avenue. This is his first effort as a librettist, but it is said he has been quite successful. He is at Atlantic City with Mr. Weller. It is understood the opera was sold outright.

NEW DIRECTORS ELECTED.

Guarantee Title and Trust Company Takes in Former Standard Officers.

Ten of the directors of the Standard Security Trust Company, which was recently absorbed by the Guarantee Title and Trust Company, at a meeting of the board of directors of the latter company yesterday morning at 11 o'clock were made directors of the parent company, when the board was increased from 23 to 36 members. The additions are R. S. Smith, formerly president of the Standard; John Bindley, formerly first vice president of the Standard; T. M. Armstrong, Otis H. Childs, H. P. Fears, W. F. McCook, Edwin Bindley, Frederick W. Kiefer, A. Hillis Boyd, Julian Kennedy, John H. Wilson, Francis J. Torrance and J. D. Hallman. J. T. Wachob, formerly secretary and treasurer of the Standard, was elected assistant secretary and treasurer of the Guarantee company.

Since taking over this company, the Moreland Trust and the Iron City National bank, the Guarantee Title and Trust Company has prepared plans for enlarging its business, and the scope of its by-laws will be changed to permit of a general trust and banking business. A meeting of the stockholders will be called for that purpose Thursday afternoon, but a quorum could not be secured. An adjournment was taken until yesterday afternoon, when a second postponement was necessary. A third meeting will be held at No. 210 Fourth avenue Monday afternoon.

Emil Winter and John Dimbley were elected members of the executive board.

TO FIGHT DISEASE.

State Board of Health Starts Proceedings to Compel County to Maintain Quarantines.

Because of the many cases of smallpox reported in Allegheny county the state board of health has begun a campaign to stamp out disease in this section. Before Judge John D. Shafer in common pleas court No. 2 the county poor directors and township school boards will be called up this morning to show why they should not assist indigent families afflicted with disease. Dr. W. R. Batt, quarantine officer at large for the state health board, has instituted the proceedings.

Dr. Batt yesterday refused to discuss his plan of campaign if he receives a favorable decision in court in the matter. He said that there were but few mixed cases in other parts of the state, and that Allegheny county seems to be the distributing point. He said that the school boards when organized as health boards have the right to establish and maintain quarantines and the bills must be paid by the county.

NEW YORK POLICE HAVE ANOTHER MURDER MYSTERY

NEW YORK, July 24.—After an examination today of the body of a woman burned with carbolic acid the police declared that they had a murder mystery more intricate than that of Charles W. Roxbury. The body was found in a gully. One leg and arm were doubled under and the grass was beaten down, suggesting a struggle. Cabolic acid had been poured over the body to make it appear that she had taken her own life.

BROKERS' CLERKS LOSE HALF THEIR SALARIES

NEW YORK, July 24.—(Special.)—As a result of the shrinkage in stocks Wall street brokers' clerks have had their salaries cut in half. Big firms, such as J. P. Morgan and Vermilye & Co., have not made any reductions as yet, but among the smaller firms stringent measures have been taken to reduce expenses.

Fort Fisher Hero Dead.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., July 24.—Zachariah C. Neahr, who was buried at Canajoharie this afternoon, was the last to die of the three survivors of 12 men who volunteered to Gen. Terry to destroy the confederate stockade during the battle of Fort Fisher and whose accomplishment of the deed in the face of a hail of sharpshooters' bullets, which killed nine of their number, was one of the most heroic acts of the civil war. Neahr died of consumption at the age of 72 years. Congress had remembered him with a medal for heroism.

WOULD NOT SAY IF HE WOULD ACCEPT PLACE

Colonel Hearne Refused to Discuss Reported Offer of C. F. D. Company.

"I will neither deny nor affirm the report that I am to become president of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company," said Colonel Frank J. Hearne, last night upon his return from Wheeling, where he went to attend the funeral of a relative. As a result of the control of the western company by the Gould-Rockefeller interests, which was secured about a month ago, an offer was tendered Colonel Hearne, who, until last summer, was president of the National Tube Company. He said last night that he would prefer not discussing the matter.

"It is my personal affair and I do not care to speak for publication," he declared.

He was asked if a formal tender had been made him, and this he refused to answer. It is generally understood that George J. Gould, while in Pittsburgh two weeks ago inspecting the Wabash work, had a conference with Colonel Hearne, and that it was practically decided that at the coming meeting of the board of directors of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, Colonel Hearne would be made president. The board meeting will be held August 19.

MISSING MAN IS HEIR TO HALF OF $150,000

CHICAGO, July 24.— (Special.) — James Brown, who once lived at No. 5052 Bowe avenue, Englewood, is anxiously sought, so that a fortune may be presented to him. Chief of Police O'Neill has been asked to look for Mr. Brown, who, according to his brother, William F. Brown of St. Louis, is one of two heirs to $150,000 left by an uncle.

TEAMSTER INSISTED ON BEING IN FUNERAL

William Johnson, a McKeesport teamster, almost disorganized a funeral procession yesterday by driving in between the carriages and the hearse while the corpse was being conveyed to the cemetery. It is said by the funeral director that Johnston persisted in making up part of the procession and annoyed the drivers all the way to the burying ground. Information has been made against the teamster.

The man who is caged in or cooped up day after day without sufficient exercise is sure to suffer for it. Quite often the liver is the first organ which becomes disordered, and constipation, biliousness, sick headache and general physical torpor make life miserable. There's only one way to deal with liver "trouble" and that is to go to the root of the disease, and cure it once for all. Such cures of the disordered or diseased liver almost always follow the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It always helps. It almost always cures. It regulates the liver, strengthens the stomach, and purifies the blood.

"Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine made," writes Michael Maher, of Little Falls, N. Y. (68 Center St.) "I had yellow jaundice and liver trouble in November, 1900. Was almost dead, lost sixteen pounds in three weeks and my whole body was as yellow as gold, and I was sick at my stomach all the time. I tried three doctors and they gave me tablets and pills and another one some other stuff, but I went to Messrs. O'Rourke and Hurley's drug store and got your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' One bottle cured me and I thank it and God that I am a well man."

Accept no substitute for the "Discovery." There is nothing "just as good."

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book containing 1008 pages, is given away. Send 21 one-cent stamps for expense of mailing only, for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the volume bound in cloth. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE FINANCIAL SKY HAS BEEN CLEARED

Announcement of Failures on the New York Exchange Relieved Uncertainty and the Market Rallied Sharply.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Near the close of an extremely dark and stormy day in Wall street, there was a clearing of the atmosphere by the announcement of the failure of two firms, members of the New York Stock Exchange. These firms were W. L. Stow & Co. and Talbot J. Taylor & Co. The head of the latter firm is the son-in-law of James R. Keene, the Wall street leader, and that relationship, together with its connection with the old Southern Pacific pool, gave it considerable prominence in the street. The feverish and demoralized condition of the market during the past week was accompanied by rumors of impending trouble. These rumors placed under suspicion every firm that has been prominently identified with large speculative interests, and there has unquestionably been heavy liquidation in the market with the view to discounting the expected announcement of financial embarrassment. When the formal statement was made on the stock exchange late in the afternoon of the suspension of the firms mentioned, there was a remarkable rally in the market, which in some instances carried prices to the highest level of the day. It was the opinion of the street that the commitments of the suspended firms had been pretty thoroughly liquidated before the announcements were made, and the hope was also expressed that no more trouble of the same character would come.

The first four hours of the session witnessed the heaviest selling and the greatest decline in prices that have occurred on this movement. London prices came lower, and as a rule concessions were made in the initial transactions here. The industrials were again the heaviest sufferers, and Amalgamated Copper was the leader in the downward movement. This stock opened higher and touched 41¾, but shortly thereafter a deluge of stock came pouring upon the market and the price slumped to 39¾, the lowest ever quoted. Anaconda Copper broke from 68 to 64¼. Simultaneously with this selling a sharp drive was made on Brooklyn Rapid Transit, carrying the price down from 45¾ to 41, the lowest since 1898, when the late ex-Governor Flower began his famous bull campaign, which, in the following year, carried the price to 137. The extreme weakness in these two stocks had a bad effect upon the entire list, but the railways held fairly steady until a drive was made on United States Steel, which broke the common to 21⅝ and the preferred to 68¼, the latter the lowest ever quoted, being a half point below the lowest level touched on May 9, 1901. American Smelters broke from 41½ to 37½, Pressed Steel Car from 45 to 43½ for the common and from 84½ to 80½ for the preferred. Colorado Fuel and Iron broke from 44 to 41, Tennessee Coal and Iron from 40½ to 38, Republic Iron and Steel to 11 for the common and to 64¼ for the preferred, and American Car and Foundry preferred from 85 to 83¼. Peoples Gas broke to 92 and Consolidated Gas to 181¾. General Electric made a new low record by dropping from 158 to 155¼. The railroads could not withstand the effect of the depression in the industrials, and began to give way, many of the best issues dropping to the lowest price of the year. St. Paul broke to 137½, Northwest to 160, and Union Pacific to 72¼. Pennsylvania declined to 119⅝ and New York Central to 116½, but these two stocks held relatively better than anything else. The Rock Island issues broke to new low records, the common touching 20½ and the preferred 61¼. Mexican Central broke from 19 to 11, this movement representing forced liquidation for account of one of the brokerage firms whose failure was announced, and which was identified with the pool in the stock. The lowest prices of the day for the railroad list were made shortly after 2 o'clock, and when the demoralization was at its highest the failures were announced. The rebound was the strongest that has occurred at any time this week. St. Paul jumped to 140½, New York Central to 119, Pennsylvania to 122, and the general railroad list from 1 to 2 per cent. United States Steel common advanced to 23½ and the preferred to 70. Amalgamated Copper rallied to 40, and a number of the minor specialties recovered much if not all their early losses. The market closed active and generally near the best.

A prolonged movement in the stock market usually culminates with a day of violent fluctuations and enormous transactions. These conditions seem to have been pretty nearly fulfilled yesterday. The transactions aggregated 1,236,000 shares, and the average of prices was the lowest for three years. The declines in the acknowledged leaders of the market, like United States Steel among the industrials, and St. Paul among the high-class railroads, were certainly severe, and particularly so coming on top of what had gone before. There may be isolated cases where values will decline to a still lower level, but the general feeling is that a smart rally should occur before there is a further decline, and that then the market should relapse into midsummer dullness. Call money ruled at about 2 per cent the greater part of the day, but at the close advanced to 3 per cent. Today's bank statement, if it comes anywhere near the estimates, should make a favorable showing, the preliminary figures indicating a gain of more than $6,000,000 in cash. It is expected that loans will show a large reduction, which should reduce deposit liabilities and increase the surplus reserve.

The local stock market was active and feverish all day, the sales approximating 18,000 shares, and prices being uniformly lower. The heaviest dealings were in United States Steel, of which more than 2,200 shares common changed hands at prices ranging from 23¼ to 21⅝, and nearly 2,000 shares of the preferred at 70½ to 68¾. The common recovered to 22¾ and the preferred to 70 at the close. Crucible Steel common declined to 11½ and recovered to 11¾, while the preferred broke 2 points to 72½ and closed at the lowest. Manufacturers Light and Heat was active and lower, declining to and closing at 83, the lowest since the reorganization of the company. Ohio Fuel Supply broke to 38 and Philadelphia Company to 40, the latter closing at 39 bid, 39¾ asked. National Fire Proofing common remained unchanged at 22, but the preferred declined to 83. Westinghouse Electric broke to 85. Pittsburgh Brewing common declined to 31. Pittsburgh Coal was active and lower, the common declining to 26¾ and the preferred to 83, the latter the lowest for a long time. River Coal common was unchanged at 10¼, while the preferred rallied from 38 to 39, closing at 38½ bid. Bank stocks were dull and week. Allegheny Trust declined 5 per cent to 145, and the other members of the group were ½ to 1 per cent lower. American Trust did not change hands, but was offered at 475. The bond market was dull and unchanged.

SECOND AVENUE PRICES BROKEN

Harvey H. Smith Buys Lot Above Cherry Alley for $1,250 a Foot.

SEVEN SALES IN ALLEGHENY

Pittsburgh College Will Build Chapel in Bluff Street—Good Option Secured in McKeesport—Many Small Residence Sales.

A record-breaking figure was established for real estate in Second avenue, above Cherry alley, by the sale yesterday of the two-story brick house adjoining the old Welsh Methodist church property at the southeast corner of Second avenue and Cherry alley. Through the agency of Warren & Gray this lot was sold to Harvey H. Smith for $25,000, or $1,250 a front foot. It belonged to Frank McCann, he having bought it a year ago for $12,500, so that he doubles his money on the investment of 12 months' standing. Smith is a member of the McKenzie-Davis Lithographing Company, which bought the church property some time ago for $40,000. The lot bought yesterday measures 20x75 feet and the church lot is 40x75 feet, giving the company a frontage in Second avenue of 60 feet. The church has been rebuilt for a modern printing establishment and the building secured yesterday will be fitted up for an addition.

Sherwood C. Martin sold to Jennie A. Haines a residence property, 22x100 feet, on the west side of Sandusky street, near Lacock street, Fourth ward, Allegheny, for $10,500.

Two other deals of $10,000 each were the sale of the John Steffen residence, lot 62x101 feet, on the west side of Preble avenue, near Kerr street, Ninth ward, Allegheny, to Harry A. Rolevon and the purchase by W. J. Willing of a residence property, 44x120 feet, on the south side of Kirkpatrick avenue, Second ward, Allegheny, which was lately owned by George Hook, Jr.

The new building will stand at the side of the Holy Ghost college and will measure 45x80 feet. It will include a sanctuary, lecture hall and recitation rooms.

W. L. Scott is receiving estimates on 10 brick houses which he will build in the Edgerly place plan of lots in the Eleventh ward, Allegheny. The houses will contain five and six rooms each and will face in Home street near California avenue. They will cost $1,800 each.

Architect C. G. Mentel has plans prepared for a three-story brick hotel for Frank Kuchara at Heidelberg, Pa. The cost is estimated at $10,000.

Bids are being taken by Architect R. Maurice Trimble on a 10-room brick house to be built in Bellevue for U. G. Purviance at a cost of $10,000.

LIGHT HAY OFFERINGS KEEP PRICES FIRM

Green Pea Quotations Decline. California Pears and Plums Are Lower.

Supplies of hay are light, receipts for several days having been contracted, and offerings are firmly held for top figures. No. 1 timothy brings $19, without trouble, for old stock. All the new hay arriving so far is graded as No. 2, in order to be on the safe side, for there is danger of its heating. There is a fairly good demand for it, however, and prices secured range from $15 to $16.50. The grain market presented a fair amount of interest throughout the list, and there were no quotable changes. In the west corn was slightly stronger, and oats fairly steady. Millfeed is selling at former quotations, with middlings steady and bran weak.

Flour is practically unchanged, and up until yesterday there was no indication of any immediate change in price. Cash wheat is scarce, the supply in Minneapolis being not more than sufficient for three weeks' running of the mills, and a condition of limited supply exists throughout the country. For this reason it is argued that quotations should remain firm until the coming of the new crop, although it is possible winter wheat flour may have some effect upon the situation. Coffee is quiet, and Brazil markets are dull and slightly lower. Developments yesterday were generally of a bearish character, and the movement of the Brazil crop continues heavy. Sugar held its own, refiners reporting large withdrawals, while raw sugars are reported as firm at slightly higher figures.

There is nothing particularly new in canned goods, while dried fruits are quiet, with the movement fairly good. Quotations remain steady as quoted.

Fruits and produce were steady, with very few price changes. Ohio celery is in the market, offering at 30c to 35c, while Kalamazoo is held at old figures per dozen. Advices with the run of receipts hardly satisfactory in quality. Blackberries and huckleberries are coming forward in moderate quantities, and there is no change in price.

Apricots are not in the market at present, the California crop being exhausted, while those from Oregon and Idaho are not yet ready for shipment. California plums are quite plentiful, and there is a lower range of quotations. California Bartlett pears are also selling at reduced figures, and are offering freely. Reports from there say the deadline in lemons at the New York auction sale, next month, foretells weakness being in 300s. Local quotations continue unchanged.

Receipts of live chickens were very light, and demand is large enough to keep all accumulations down. Prices are firmly held, and dealers claim to find more difficulty in securing stock than selling it at the present ruling range of quotations.

No new features developed in the butter situation yesterday, and prices remain unchanged. There is said to be more accumulation of stock throughout the country than seems to be generally observable. In New York the cheese movement is reported as limited, but prices are steady. There are large accumulations of under grades which are urging for sale. Eggs are in fair supply, with some withdrawals being made from storage. Quotations are held just about as last quoted.

In the Oil Fields

In Wetzel county, West Virginia, south of Fallen Timber run, in the Dunkard sand district, the late wells are coming in fairly good and unless there is a change soon the pool can be regarded as defined and a small affair.

Treat & Crawford and the J. C. Trees Oil Company have drilled their No. 4 on the Conaway-Stewart farm through the Dunkard sand and have a duster. No. 3 on this farm was dry and the South Penn Oil Company's No. 54 on the H. L. Smith farm is in the same list.

In the Folsome district, the South Penn Oil Company has completed its No. 2 on the S. P. Starkey farm and has a 10-barrel pumper in the Gordon. On the east side of the district, the Delphy Oil Company has completed and shot its No. 8 on the W. T. Ice farm and has a 50-barrel producer. This company's No. 1 on the A. J. Ice, jr., farm is holding up at 120 barrels a day. In the same district the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 1 on the William Edgill farm into the stray 37 feet and has no show except a light gas pressure.

In the Salem district, Harrison county, the South Penn has drilled its No. 2 on the Marcellus Clark farm into the stray and has no show of oil or gas at 15 feet in the sand.

Two and one-half miles northeast of the Bridgewater Gas Company's production in the Burning Springs district, Wirt county, the Nelsonville Oil and Gas Company has completed a test on the Riley Haught farm, located on Brushy Fork, and has a duster in the big Injun sand at a depth of 1,205 feet.

In Union district, Pleasants county, the American Oil Development Company and the South Penn Oil Company have drilled their No. 14 on the J. W. Morgan farm through the Cow Run and have a small pumper.

A. A. Cameron has drilled his No. 9 on the M. G. Woodruff farm, Ohio valley sand, and has a 70-barrel producer. The Holmes Oil Company has drilled its test on the William Lowe farm through all sands, including the Berea grit, and has a duster. A. A. Cameron has completed No. 3 on the C. Cheatle farm and has a 25-barrel producer. A. A. Cameron has completed a test on the G. B. Quinn farm and has a duster. Pugh & Cameron have drilled their No. 9 on the Arthur Pugh farm through the sand and have a duster.

Seven miles southwest of Zelienople, in Beaver county, Snyder & Sons have drilled their test on the John White farm through the 100-foot and have a duster. In Butler county one-half mile east of Harmony, the Dewberry Oil Company has completed a test on the D. Zeigler farm and have a duster in the 100-foot. It is now drilling to the Boulder.

PRESIDENT BACK AT SAGAMORE HILL

His Party Adopts the Western Method of Riding and Walking Alternately.

HE MAKES AN ACQUAINTANCE

Sim Velsor and Wife, Friends of the Family, Show Chief Executive Their Fine New Baby—Trip Made Without Untoward Incident.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

OYSTER BAY, L. I., July 24.—Alternately walking and riding, President Roosevelt, his son, Theodore, Jr., and his nephews, George and Jack, spent seven hours on the dusty Long Island highways between Sayville and Oyster Bay. It was 4 o'clock this morning when the party left Lotus Lake, the home of the president's uncle, where they were entertained.

A suggestion from the president that the 40 miles home be accomplished after the western fashion of riding for one hour and then walking and leading the mounts for an hour was adopted. The country people along the route were on the lookout for the president. Between Lake Ronkonoma and Smithtown the party overtook a farmer and his wife. The latter had a fine baby in her arms.

"Hey, there," shouted the farmer to the president, "my name is Sim Velser; my uncle is over at Oyster Bay and knows you and all your folks, and I want to get acquainted with you."

The president dismounted and shook hands and chatted with him and patted the baby on the cheek.

It was 11:35 o'clock when the president and the boys arrived at Sagamore Hill to be greeted demonstratively by the other members of the family.

During the afternoon President Roosevelt received the Rev. Thomas A. Hendrick of Rochester, who was recently designated as Roman Catholic bishop of Cebu, P. I., and Gen. B. F. Tracy, former secretary of the navy.

After his visit Father Hendrick said: "My visit to Sagamore Hill was for the purpose of paying my respects to the president and to discuss Philippine affairs with him. He, of course, does not try to exercise any influence in church matters, but the government and the church have found they can work to best advantage in the Philippines by mutual understanding. Pope Leo desired, and it will be the object of the four American bishops recently designated, to create in the Philippines a native priesthood, which will obviate in the future the friction which ensued between the natives and the Spanish priests over them. The Spaniards discouraged education of the natives for the priesthood. We will encourage it by re-endowing the theological seminaries and making provision as already planned for their complete education, both in the archipelago and Washington at the Roman Catholic university of America. In time all the natives of Catholic faith will be under native priests so that the service of the four American bishops and the additional ones yet to be appointed may be termed ad interim administration.

"President Roosevelt is in full sympathy with this idea. He sees in it the removal of any danger of other than American ideas being inculcated in the active mind through religious sources."

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Secretary Moody left today for Oyster Bay where he will have a conference with the president. The secretary carries several important matters to lay before the president, the decision of which will have a far-reaching effect on naval legislation. Advocates of the general staff project say the fate of that measure will be decided at the conference. Secretary Moody will inspect a number of navy yards and witness the maneuvers of the North Atlantic squadron before returning to Washington.

CORNER STONE WILL BE LAID AT CRAFTON SUNDAY

Last Sermon of Allegheny Pastor—Large Institute of W. C. T. U. Near Latrobe

The corner stone of St. Philip's Roman Catholic church at Crafton will be laid tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by the Rt. Rev. J. F. Regis Canevin, bishop coadjutor of the Pittsburgh diocese. The Rev. Father Quinn will deliver the sermon. This church was organized in 1839 and for many years was a mission. The new church is being built of Cleveland lime stone and when completed will cost $75,000. The Rev. A. W. Kelly is pastor.

The Rev. W. W. Barker, assistant pastor of the Sandusky Street Baptist church, Allegheny, will preach his last sermon there tomorrow morning. His subject will be "Liberty." Mr. Barker's resignation was read and accepted last Sunday, and he has accepted a unanimous call to the pastorate of the First Baptist church of Frankfort, N. Y. He begins his work there in August.

TWO DROWNING MEN ARE SAVED BY HUMAN CHAIN

Favorite Theatrical Scene Produced in Real Life in East River.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 24.—By holding to one another's legs and suspending themselves from pier No. 34, East river, to the water, thus forming a human chain, Thomas Crowley, Daniel Larkin and Michael Tuohy, longshoremen, saved two men from drowning this morning.

James Short and Joseph McGuigan went to sleep on the string piece of the pier last night. About 3 o'clock Short awoke and rolled overboard, grabbing McGuigan, both going into the water. The watchman on the pier jumped after the men and managed to keep their heads above water. His shouts aroused three longshoremen, who were also sleeping on the pier. There was a heavy piece of rope attached to a stanchion, and this Crowley tied around his leg. He then took hold of Larkin's legs and Larkin seized Tuohy's legs. This brought Tuohy within a few inches of the water. The watchman managed to push the two drowning men within reach of Tuohy and all three were dragged out.

FRANK A. PARKER.

ORDER NO. 800 GOES.

Director Moore Says It Will Be Enforced So Long as He Is in Office.

Superintendent of Police John P. McTighe says that police order No. 800, which restricts the selling of liquor in disorderly houses, is still being enforced. The officers are watching these disorderly houses, and when they learn of the order being violated the proprietors are arrested.

It was reported yesterday that a number of establishments in the downtown section of the city were selling liquor to visitors. The matter was reported to Superintendent McTighe and an investigation made. So far as could be learned no one was found who had bought liquor in any disorderly house or any proprietors who had sold it.

Safety Director Harry Moore said yesterday there was no intention to withdraw the order. So long as he was in office "Order No. 800" would be enforced, he said.

ASK FOR AN INCREASE ABOVE THE SCALE

The George A. Fuller Company has decided not to grant the bricklayers 65 cents an hour, an increase of 5 cents on the scale. The bricklayers claim that nearly all contractors in this district are paying 65, and as high as 75 cents an hour for technical bricklaying. The men employed on the Nixon theater say they are entitled to an advance, even though the scale calls for 60 cents.

Horrors of Sweatshop Labor Are Depicted in Chautauqua Lecture.

EVILS COULD BE ELIMINATED

Ready-Made Garments Women Buy Are Made Under the Most Repulsive Conditions—Working Women Should Be Cared for Before They Break Down.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., July 24.—In connection with the problems discussed in woman's week, Mrs. Florence Kelly of the National Consumer's' league spoke today on "Union of Girls in the Needle Trades." Mrs. Kelly described the horrors of the sweat shops and the poverty of the women working in them, and told of the progress the Consumers' league is making.

"A great responsibility," she said, "rests upon the women. If they were less cruelly indifferent to the enormous army of needlewomen who are supplying our wants, less unenlightened as to the source of supply and less injudicious in the spending om money, wonders could be accomplished for the poor, hard worked class, living in the wretched tenement houses of our cities.

"It is humiliating to say it, but the ready made garments that women buy are of the most demoralizing, meanest and worst paid for work in this civilized land. We have been so eager to depart from the ways of our grandmothers and so eager in the search of culture that we have wandered into strange byways. When our needlewomen at last break down and are physicial wrecks, then all our sympathies are aroused. We have hospitals and nurses for them, asylums for the children and even funds to maintain the family, but we let them labor until lack of nourishing food, poor ventilation and other discomforts produce all kinds of diseases."

Mrs. Kelly paid a high tribute to the Russian Jews. She said no matter how they labor, they never sacrifice their children and they give them every advantage in their power to obtain an education.

Dr. Earl Barnes lectured today on "The Care of Our Defectives of Idiots in Mind and Morals." He says all idiot children should be registered and if the parents are able to care for them a home, a report of their condition should be made from time to time by appointed commissioners.

"Imbeciles should not be placed in the asylums with other people, but they should be colonized in a permanent rural colony where there is no danger of their ever returning to the body politic. The colony should be in the care of an efficient force of police and under the supervision of medical men. Then there will always be found those exalted men and noble women who will bestow themselves upon those people and develop them as far as is possible. It is the duty of the state to furnish funds for the treatment of this class who, when left at large, are a menace to the morals of the place in which they live."

Dr. Barnes suggests the same treatment for moral defectives.

THREE MONTHS OLD

And Sadly Afflicted with Eczema Quickly Cured by Cuticura.

Grateful Mother Cannot Express Her Heartfelt Thanks.

"My son became afflicted with eczema at the age of three months and I was sorely perplexed. I went to see several doctors about it but they did him no good, so I tried the Cuticura Remedies according to directions and began to notice a rapid cure. So pleased was I with the success that I continued, and now I am so grateful to the Cuticura Remedies that I cannot express my heartfelt thanks. He is now two years old and all cured with no sign of the disease returning. Great thanks to the Cuticura Remedies."

COMPLETE TREATMENT $1.00

For Torturing Disfiguring Humours, From Pimples to Scrofula, From Infancy to Age.

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of the scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurement, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum, — all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy have made them the standard skin cures and humour remedies of the civilized world.

Safe From Summer Complaints

All mammas, and papas too for that matter, dread the heat of summer with it's danger for the little folks, especially the babies. It is simply heart-breaking to read year after year about the great death rate among children caused by the summer's heat. Yet it is easy to protect the infants against all summer complaints, because we know that all these fearful perils have their beginning in stomach and bowel troubles, and we have a perfect family medicine that will keep the delicate machinery in a child's body clean, regular and in healthy working order in the hottest weather—CASCARETS Candy Cathartic. The plump, bouncing, crowing baby shown here is a CASCARET baby. He feels that way winter and summer. Nursing mammas take a CASCARET at bedtime, and it makes their mother's milk mildly purgative and keeps the baby just right. Older children like to take the fragrant, sweet little candy tablet, and are safe from colic, gripes, diarrhoea, summer rash, prickly heat and all the mean troubles that summer brings with it.
